State Office to Review Liuni Case; Local Hearing Set Wednesday at 10

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The tangled adoption case of 4½-year-old Elizabeth St. John will be reviewed by the State Social Welfare Department, Gov. Rockefeller says.

The governor commented on the case Monday in response to questions from Newsmen.

Rockefeller said he had ordered a "full-scale investigation" by the department.

"It's a tragic case," the governor said in reference to the bitter battle that grew after Ulster County officials rejected the request of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Liuni of Tillsen to adopt the little girl, Beth.

General Sums Up Biggest Operation

LONG BINH, South Viet Nam (AP) — Operation Attleboro, the biggest U.S. action of the Viet Nam war, cracked open one of the toughest and oldest of the Viet Cong's strongholds.

That is the judgment of Maj. Gen. Fred C. Weyand, who directed the 43-day operation involving some 25,000 American soldiers in the tangled jungles of Tay Ninh Province northwest of Saigon.

Will Never Be Same

"We started the end of War Zone C as a sanctuary for the VC," Weyand said in an interview at his headquarters here.

"War Zone C will never be the same."

The Communists have controlled the area stretching to the Cambodian border for 20 years or more.

The general did not claim that the Viet Cong's hold on Zone C has been broken. But he predicted that "eventually, War Zone C will no longer be a base area for them."

Operation Attleboro was declared ended last Saturday with a claimed bag of more than 1,100 Communist regulars killed and nearly 2,400 tons of all-important rice captured, plus hoards of other supplies.

Weyand said he decided to call off the operation because it no longer was worth the heavy resources assigned to it — elements of two U.S. Army divisions, parts of two brigades and a tank regiment.

Dispersed in Small Groups

Once the Communist command decided the American opposition was too great, Weyand said, the Viet Cong 9th Division and the 101st North Vietnamese Regiment dispersed in small groups.

Port Ewen Minister Accepts Pastorate in Virgin Islands

Minister of the Port Ewen Reformed Church and active leader in the local ecumenical movement, the Rev. Ronald D. Lokhorst, has accepted a call to the Reformed Church in St. Thomas, Virgin Islands.

He will leave with his family in mid-January to assume the pastorate of the church which was founded by Dutch settlers in 1660. It is one of the two American churches in St. Thomas and serves Americans of several denominations.

REV. RONALD D. LOKHORST

The Rev. Mr. Lokhorst has been active in the Kingston community since coming to the Port Ewen Church in August, 1962. He is presently head of the Classis of Ulster and was president of the Kingston Area Council of Churches in 1964 and 1965. With the Rev. Charles Koerber, CSSR, assistant dean and registrar at Mt. St. Alphonsus Seminary, Esopus, the Rev. Mr. Lokhorst has served as co-ordinator of Kingston area Roman Catholic-Protestant clergy dialogues. Through their efforts a series of monthly meetings were held starting in the fall of 1965. The grass roots ecumenical movement also included union services and exchange speakers.

A member of the board of directors of Kingston and Ulster County YMCA, the Rev. Mr. Lokhorst is on the board of superintendents of New Brunswick Theological Seminary and is a member of the Ulster County Citizens Survey Committee.

A native of Baldwin, Wis., he is a graduate of Baldwin High School and Hope College, Holland, Mich. He received his divinity degree at New Brunswick Theological Seminary, New Brunswick, N. J., in 1962 and was (Continued on Page 18, Col. 7)

Relief Predicted For Michigan Area

DETROIT (AP) — The U.S. Weather Bureau predicted some relief today from the heavy snow and gales that stranded more than 1,000 persons, closed roads and schools and disrupted electric service to 10,000 homes in Upper Michigan Monday.

Detroit weather officials said snow in western and northern Michigan would diminish, but warned of heavy drifting and blowing in the northeastern part of the state.

Svirsky to Seek GOP Nod for 1968 Congress Race

George Svirsky, prominent Kingston businessman, announced today he is "actively seeking" endorsement as the GOP's congressional candidate in the 1968 election.

Lifelong Area Resident

Svirsky, of Ulster Park, is a lifelong area resident and owner-operator of the United Pharmacy, 329 Wall Street. If nominated by the Republican Party he will oppose incumbent sophomore Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick, Ellenville Democrat, who defeated Dutchess County hopeful Hamilton Fish Jr.

Asked his reasons for seeking the Republican nod, Svirsky explained that he had "been approached in the past" concerning his candidacy and "after great consideration... I feel it is in the best interests of my community and my party to seek this office."

Well-known locally for his community work, Svirsky is current president of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce and American Cancer Society branch. These and other community (Continued on Page 18, Col. 8)

Testimony Ends Suddenly

Rickard Jury May Deliberate Today

Testimony in the Raymond G. Rickard Jr., first degree murder trial came to a sudden close this morning after only two witnesses had been sworn on behalf of the defendant.

Orlando Scarsella, Lake Katrine trailer camp operator who bought the Rossiello trailer Nov. 20, 1964, and Mrs. Carol Bremer, a neighbor of the Rossiello family during their 1964 stay at a trailer camp at Lake Katrine, were the only two witnesses called by the defense. Rickard did not take the stand to testify.

Summations and Charge

Following a short recess summations by counsel for the defense and the prosecution and the charge as to the law by Judge Raymond J. Mino completes the trial and the case will go to the jury.

Mrs. Bremer was called as the first defense witness today. She testified regarding testimony given before the grand jury. She said she had appeared before that body in January and said she had told the grand jury she had seen Edward and Victor Rossiello on many occasions playing at the Rossiello trailer. She said she had told the grand jury she had seen Victor on Nov. 14, 1964 and between that date and Nov. 20.

The witness said her mother had come to Lake Katrine Nov. 14, 1964 and she recalled pointing out Victor to her mother. She said the dates she saw Victor were approximate dates but she recalled pointing the child out to her mother.

On cross examination Mrs. Bremer said she knew her mother gave her on Nov. 14, 1964, but the dates on which she saw Victor were "approximate," she had seen him playing about the trailer almost daily during the time the Rossiello family had occupied the trailer.

At the conclusion of Mrs. Bremer's testimony motions were renewed by defense for dismissal of the indictment on the grounds The People had failed to prove the guilt of defendant beyond a reasonable doubt. That motion was denied. Motions were renewed to strike out certain testimony offered by the prosecution and that motion was denied.

Note Significant Local Discovery Of Serum at Lab

A report today on participation of staff members of the City of Kingston Laboratory in important health programs reveals a significant local discovery dealing with serum content.

The report from Dr. Douw S. Meyers, chairman of the laboratory's Board of Managers, notes:

Explains Difficulties

Paul Fugazzotto, Ph. D., the laboratory's bacteriologist, recently addressed the American Society of Microbiology at Hartford, Conn., and Herbert Derom, M.D., the laboratory's director, spoke at a workshop program on "Responsibilities in the Practice of Pathology" conducted for pathologists-in-training in New York City by the College of American Pathologists.

Dr. Fugazzotto's paper, "The Anticomplementary Activity of Certain Antigens as Reflecting an Interfering Component in Complement Serum" dealt with his finding which explains the difficulties met by investigators seeking to develop a complement fixation test for whooping cough or gonorrhea.

It was noted that Dr. Fugazzotto has discovered that guinea pig serum contains natural antibodies against the bacterial antigens of these two diseases. He pointed the way to the elimination of these antibodies to make practical laboratory testing for these diseases.

DONALD J. KNORR

Newsman Will Act As 'Eyes, Ears' in Progress Group

C. David Locks, president and chief executive of Mid Hudson Pattern for Progress, Inc., Monday announced the appointment of Donald J. Knorr, a former Rochester newspaperman, as the organization's director of information.

Knorr, 35, was a staff member of the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle, a Gannett Co. newspaper, for eight years, concentrating primarily in local government and modern social problems.

Give and Take System

In his new capacity, Knorr will be acting as the "eyes and ears of Pattern for Progress," according to Locks. "His task will be to not only inform the public of the organization's goals and continuing efforts, but also to provide an effective means through which the public, in turn, can communicate their views and concerns."

"By setting up this dialogue, this system of give and take," he added, "we hope to establish a firm relationship and basic understanding between ourselves and the people that we serve in the seven-county region."

As a Rochester newspaperman, Knorr covered virtually every level of local government, from village and town boards, to the county board of supervisors and city hall; and "this has given him a broad background in the problems facing urban-suburban areas—problems not peculiar to Rochester and Monroe County, but shared generally by municipalities throughout the nation," Locks explained.

Lived, Worked With Migrants

In the summer of 1965, Knorr and Earl Caldwell, a Negro colleague, now on the staff of the New York Post, spent six weeks living and working with migrant laborers in the orchards of upstate New York, eventually reporting their findings in a seven-part series called, "The Vanishing Migrant"—a series which attracted attention far beyond the newspaper's circulation area.

Since then, Knorr has written an in-depth study of the problems facing inmates at the Monroe County Penitentiary, the al- (Continued on Page 18, Col. 3)

Warning Is Directed at Two, West Will Strike Back If Line Is Crossed

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — King Hussein of Jordan told The Associated Press today the Middle East is on the brink of an explosion more dangerous to world peace than the Suez crisis of 1956.

His warning was directed at Israel, the Arab world and the West.

'Patience at End'

He said his armed forces would strike back at Israel — "and strike extremely hard" — if Israel attacks again across the armistice line.

"Our patience is at an end and we won't stand for any further aggression," he said in an interview at the royal palace in Amman.

Hussein said "there was no justification whatsoever" to Israel's claim that it was retaliating against terrorist raids across the border when it raided Samua and two other Jordanian frontier villages Nov. 13. The raid set off violent demonstrations in west Jordan demanding arms against Israel and denouncing the government for the weakness of its border defenses.

The disturbances were brought under control, possibly temporarily, only when troops of Hussein's tough Arab Legion moved into the area. The army so far has remained loyal to its monarch, as it has through other crises of his 14-year reign.

Says Arabs Serve Reds

Hussein charged some of his Arab neighbors were serving Communist ends by calling for his overthrow.

Hussein has enjoyed peaks of popularity among his people, especially when he has espoused Arab nationalist causes, but his pro-Western policies are opposed by his neighbors in Syria and the United Arab Republic and do not arouse the enthusiastic support of the Arab masses.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The U. S. and South Vietnamese commands reported 75 Communists killed in small skirmishes in the past 24 hours as the lull in ground fighting in the Viet Nam war continued for the third day. Continuing foul weather once again slowed the U. S. air offensive.

The U. S. command reported 53 enemy killed in more than a dozen patrol contacts. The South Vietnamese headquarters said their forces killed 22 Communists in three small engagements.

Vietnamese headquarters also reported that a Viet Cong force ambushed a 17-vehicle Vietnamese military convoy this morning on its way to the mountain city of Dalat, causing some casualties.

The ambush 98 miles north-east of Saigon was the third in the Dalat area in less than a week. There were no details on the number of government casualties or damage inflicted to the convoy.

U. S. Air Force B52 bombers returned to the central highlands near Cambodia today and struck at North Vietnamese troop concentrations 35 miles northwest of Pleiku.

Sources at the Pentagon in Washington said about 20 more of the big bombers have joined the 30-plane fleet based on Guam, and the U. S. command plans to step up bombing raids against Communist troop concentrations and supply areas.

U. S. pilots flew only 39 bombing missions over North Viet Nam Monday as the monsoon rains and low clouds continued into the third week. Five of the raids were against North Vietnamese positions in the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam.

American pilots flew 311 strike sorties over South Viet Nam Monday and South Vietnamese pilots flew 162. A U. S. Army helicopter was shot down 10 miles northeast of Saigon, and two Americans were killed.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Alton G. Marshall, a career state employee who rose through the ranks, will replace William J. Ronan in the high-level post of secretary to the governor, informed sources say.

The changeover from the controversial Ronan to Marshall will be announced by Gov. Rockefeller within the next few days as part of a general reorganization of the governor's staff.

The $32,265-a-year secretary's job is regarded as the most influential and sensitive appointive post in the state government. The secretary functions both as a principal policy adviser to the governor and as chief of his administrative staff.

Ronan, 54, who served as secretary throughout Rockefeller's first two terms, will move sideways — into full-time service as chairman of the Metropolitan Commuter Transportation Authority.

He has held the $45,000-a-year chairmanship as a second job since the authority was created in 1965.

Marshall, 45, has wielded most of Ronan's executive-chamber powers during the past year while serving as "executive officer" to the governor. He also has drawn a $32,265 salary.

The sources said Rockefeller would bestow the secretary's title formally on Marshall, giving him not only the prestige of the constitutionally authorized post but also the $3,000 annual expense allowance that goes with the job.

Marshall, a resident of nearby Glenmont, was called in last year from his post as deputy budget director to take over many of Ronan's duties.

Ronan, meanwhile, devoted most of his time to the transportation authority, which was created to take over the bankrupt Long Island Rail Road and deal with other transit problems in the metropolitan New York area.

Hollywood Finds Gold in Those Big Budget Westerns

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — All of a sudden the movie studios are discovering, perhaps for the 18th time, that there is gold to be found in big-scale Westerns, especially those with veteran stars.

This realization has dawned on producers every few years in Hollywood history. Usually it has been occasioned by the success of an epic Western: "The Covered Wagon," "Cimarron," "Stage Coach," "Red River," "Shane," "High Noon," "How the West Was Won," etc.

No single smash has signaled the start of a new Western land rush. Nor was it caused by the urge to show up those Europeans who are turning out horse operas by the wagonload.

The fact is that Hollywood can turn out Westerns with more skill than any other type of film. And they are still surefire box-office, at home and especially abroad.

The development has proved a boon to action directors, wranglers and stunt men. It is especially profitable to longtime male stars, some of whom haven't fared too well recently in more contemporary films.

John Wayne, best surviving practitioner of the Western art, had a go at it in the unreleased "Eldorado" with Robert Mitchum. Now Wayne is making "War Wagon" with Kirk Douglas in Mexico.

Douglas in turn recently finished "The Way West" in Oregon with costars Richard Widmark and Robert Mitchum. Gregory Peck has been signed for "The Stalking Moon," which will be directed by George Stevens.

ens in his first return to the West since "Shane."

Henry Fonda Busy
Longtime buddies, James Stewart and Henry Fonda will be locationing near Sedona, Ariz., in "Fury at Firecreek." Oddly, it's the first major co-starring of the pair; they appeared together only in a couple of episodic films.

Fonda also completed a hard-bitten Western, "Welcome to Hard Times," and made another, "Death Dance at Banner," which will be released on television in this country and in theaters abroad. Robert Taylor has made a pair at his old home lot, MGM: "Return of the Gunfighter" and "Hondo," the latter a remake of the John Wayne film and intended as a pilot for a television series.

Also out West are Glenn Ford in "Pistolero" and Burt Lancaster in the forthcoming "The Scalphunter." James Garner, Jason Robards and Robert Ryan will soon start "The Law and Tombstone" in Mexico, and Charlton Heston begins "Will Penny" in February.

Many More
Recently completed or now shooting: "Hombre" with Paul Newman, Frederic March and Martin Balsam; "Rough Night in Jericho" with Dean Martin and George Peppard; "Waterhold No. 3" with James Coburn; "Chuka" with Rod Taylor and Ernest Borgnine.

Even the ladies are getting into the act. Doris Day has been announced for "The Epic of Josie," her first Western since "Calamity Jane" in 1953.

Lastly, there is the Western to end all Westerns — though it undoubtedly won't. "The Shaggy Dog in the West," starring Don Knotts.

Blames Freeman, Office for Fewer Dairy Farmers

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — A dairymen's leader says approximately 3,000 farmers in the New York - New Jersey area have gone out of business this year due in part to actions of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Robert C. Forsythe, manager of the service division of Northeast Dairy Cooperative Federation Inc., said Monday that the department "and the secretary in particular, are acting more like enemies than friends of the dairy farmer."

"The division of the U.S. Department of Agriculture last week in refusing to adjust the milk price so as to give a guarantee against a price reduction next spring has been a severe blow to the morale of our members," Forsythe said.

He predicted that more dairy farmers would decide to go out of business.

Dog Licenses Are Available In Towns Dec. 1

Dog licenses will be available from town clerks starting Dec. 1, according to an announcement made today by the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets.

Sale of 1967 tags begins throughout the state on that date. The law provides dogs not licensed by Jan. 1 shall be seized either on or off the owners' premises. No extensions will be granted beyond Jan. 1 and seizures are mandatory.

Dogs seized may be redeemed within three days in cities and five days in rural areas by the owner paying cost of seizure in addition to the license.

Tags for 1967 have been improved over previous years. They are made of heavier metal stock with license numerals deeply imprinted for improved legibility.

The dog population in New York State is at an all time high with 889,649 dogs registered in the first nine months of this year. In 1965, the entire number of dogs registered was 870,128. All but about 10 per cent of the money is retained locally.

December is the month when the annual dog census is taken. Police are enumerators within city limits, while town representatives do the job outside the cities.

South Averts Set on Slam

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Deception in play is not limited to false cards. An alert declarer will frequently create an illusion in an opponent's mind by an unusual discard.

If North and South had worked their way to three no trump the favorable break in clubs would insure that contract but they arrived at four spades.

West opened the king of clubs and continued with the ace and queen. South had studied the hand carefully before playing to the first trick and he noted that his only reasonable play would be to try the heart finesse. If this worked he would have 10 easy tricks. If it failed he could deal the next hand.

Then he thought a little further. Maybe he could persuade West to lead a heart for him. When West followed up his king of clubs lead with the ace and the queen South was ready to encourage a shift to hearts. He discarded the deuce of hearts on the queen of clubs.

West found himself still on lead. He couldn't afford a lead of his last club. That would give South a chance to ruff in dummy and discard from his own hand. A diamond lead from the jack appeared dangerous. South might be holding a king-ten combination.

West should have shifted to a trump. It was very unlikely that this would cost his partner a trump trick but West was mesmerized by that heart discard. He led away from his king of hearts and South had found the way to his tenth trick.

People* who enjoy Automatic Oil Heat will enjoy dependable comfort this winter . . .

*and that includes the majority of prudent Hudson Valley homeowners

Forecast: Oil-heated homeowners will again be the luckiest—and the most comfortable—people this winter. For with Oil you've got more heating advantages working for you than with any other fuel. Safe fuel storage right on your own premises, for example, backed by millions of gallons of reserve supplies right here, not thousands of pipe or wire-line miles away. Dozens of local, competitive dealers to choose from—every one interested in earning your favor. Economy, in fuel prices established by competition, rather than a one-source monopoly. No wonder dependable Oil Heat has always been the favorite among Hudson Valley homeowners!

AND TALK ABOUT ECONOMY! OIL HEAT SAVES UP TO 66% OVER UTILITY HEATING FUELS—

Here's a down-to-earth, no-argument way to compare Oil Heat's low, low cost with a utility fuel: If you were to heat your home electrically, at prevailing rates of 15¢ per KWH, for example, that would be equivalent, in terms of what you could spend for the same heat with oil, to 48.9¢ per gallon! But everyone knows that oil heat costs only about one-third of that.

Electric Resistance Heating at:	Is Equivalent to #2 Fuel Oil Costing This Much:
2.0¢ per Kilowatt Hour	66.2¢ per Gallon
1.5¢ per Kilowatt Hour	49.6¢ per Gallon
1.3¢ per Kilowatt Hour	48.9¢ per Gallon

BONDS ARE BARGAINS
Bonds have an undeserved unpopularity. This is especially true with railroad obligations.

New York Central, the second-largest carrier in America, with annual gross revenues of more than $650,000,000, is having a good year. Common stock earnings will be around $8 a share.

Yet the long-term 5 per cent bonds can be bought for about 75 cents on a dollar, affording a return of 6.6 per cent.

Northern Pacific, whose revenues are bolstered by larger oil income, will make about $5 a common share in 1966. The long-term 3 per cent bonds are selling around 50, a yield of almost 6 per cent.

The country's largest railroad, the Pennsylvania system, serving such key cities as New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago and St. Louis will have gross revenues this year of about $900,000,000. The common stock will earn $3 a share. The long-term general mortgage bonds paying 4 1/2 per cent a year can be had for 80 cents on the dollar.

Atchison, Topeka, and Santa Fe — with an extremely sound capital structure — whose common stock earnings will be more than $3 a share in 1966 — has outstanding a high-grade 4 per cent bond due in 1995 that can be bought for around 82 cents on the dollar.

Atchison common, paying $1.60 a year, and selling at about 28 with a yield of 5.7 per cent with a solid book value of $60 a share, is on the bargain counter.

Chesapeake and Ohio, a rail blue-chip, with only 8,677,000 common shares outstanding, will earn about $7.50 a common share this year. The system's bonds and common stock deserve serious investor attention.

It is my opinion that market pessimism is being overdone. The capital structures of the railway systems mentioned here are sound. Considering the volume of traffic these systems carry year by year, the common stock outstanding is small. It is ironical that millions of investors with billions of dollars are neglecting the bonds and the stocks of these great enterprises.

The bonds are especially cheap. In December of 1965 the discount rate at the 12 Federal Reserve Banks was increased by 1/2 of 1 per cent a year. Tight-money conditions brought this about.

Tight money still prevails. But leading New York City bankers, when I have interviewed them, say they think the next change in basic interest rates will be down. And were this to happen, there would be an upward movement of the bond prices of all the railroads mentioned here.

Rail bond prices are low. They should be bought.

National Pilots Still Without Contract

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A union spokesman said today 96 per cent of National Airlines' 426 pilots have voted to strike if a satisfactory contract is not signed before Dec. 15.

Robert Rohan, chairman of the National Pilots' Master Executive Council, says the pilots will have been working without a contract for a year on Dec. 15. The union is demanding improved wages, working conditions and pensions. Rohan said the Miami-based line operates up and down the east coast and west to New Orleans, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Boy Killed on Bike

PARISHVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Michael Daby, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Daby of Parishville, was killed Monday when he rode his bike into the side of a fuel truck on the main street of this hamlet southeast of Potsdam.

The truck was emerging from a fire station after delivering fuel oil.

Predicament May Touch Off Wave Of Name Shifts

ROME (AP) — The predicament facing the town council of Camposanto may touch off a wave of name changing by other communities tired of being chuckled at.

Camposanto is the Italian word for cemetery. Townsfolk complain they have put up with that long enough.

What Camposanto's council does about it will be watched with sympathetic interest by some other towns that have borne the brunt of wearying hutions.

These include Canile — dog kennel, near Teramo in central Italy; Divieto — forbidden, near Messina in Sicily; Panza — stomach, near Naples; and a couple of places called Cipollina — little onion, and Budino — pudding.

Near Arezzo in Tuscany is the village of Porcellino — little pig, and near Cosenza a community called Procile — pig sty. Another town called Procile, near Verona, changed its name years ago to Belfiore — lovely flower.

But the Camposanto council, after weeks of studying the problem, still has not been able to agree on a new name.

Camposanto is the favorite so far. That means live field.

Central Claims ICC Can't Force Protection Pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The New York Central says the Interstate Commerce Commission lacks power to force one railroad to pay protection to stockholders of another line whose business the first line might hurt.

But in the case evolving from the proposed merger of the Central and the Pennsylvania, says the Central, the facts don't justify such protection payments even if they are okayed by the ICC.

Three small eastern railroads want the Penn-Central to pay them for any loss of stock value resulting from business losses because of the merger of their competitors.

The Central said at Monday's session of a reopened ICC hearing that legislation establishing the regulatory body provides no basis for such capital-loss indemnity.

Spokesmen for the three railroads — Erie Lackawanna, Boston & Maine, and Delaware &

Hudson, said although they want the indemnity plan available in case their lines' value declines, the value should not go down if the lines are taken over by another railroad, the Norfolk and Western.

TIME OF SHOPPING, MAILING

The harried housewife, who struggles through most of the preparation for Christmas, knows that there is never quite enough time for everything she wants to do to get ready. Her goal is to have all preparations completed early enough so that she may sit back serene in the knowledge of a job well done and reverent in contemplation of the real meaning of Christmas.

This is a very good reason for shopping and mailing early. If all the Christmas shopping cannot be done immediately, do as much of it as possible. The last minute rush often results in vexation and frustration.

Local merchants have made great preparation for the Christmas holiday buying. The stores are well stocked and through the columns of The Freeman they are telling the people of the area about their quality merchandise.

Postmaster Newkirk also advises area residents to start preparing for mailing now. The Kingston Post Office expects to handle seven million pieces of mail during the holiday season. Postmaster General O'Brien predicts well over eight billion pieces of mail must be delivered between now and Christmas Eve.

Mailing early is the key to better mail service and especially when there is increased volume. Zip codes are more important than ever this year.

Mailing tips offered by the postmaster include:

Wrap your packages well and include sufficient padding; include a card or piece of paper inside the package with your name and address and that of the person you are sending the parcel to in case the wrapping should come off; insert a list of the package's contents.

Gift packages and greeting cards should be addressed clearly so that the postal workers will have no difficulty in reading the destination.

Views differ as to the wisdom of Reagan's plan to be sworn in at 12:10 a. m. It depends on whether he'll be staying up late or getting up early.

PUT UP OR SHUT UP

The chief United States representative to UNESCO has made interesting use of the put-up-or-shut-up gambit in challenging the Soviet Union on the question of Viet Nam. Charles W. Frankel told the Russians that instead of bandying the word "peace" about "for paltry political advantage," they should reconvene the Geneva Conference on Indochina as a step toward a negotiated settlement of the war.

Probably nothing much will result from this. Moscow will not willingly forego using Viet Nam as grist for its propaganda mill. But the point was well taken. It tends to deflate Moscow's righteous denunciations of U.S. involvement by showing that the Russians could do something to ease the situation, but won't.

AFTER THE FEAST

The first of the family gatherings that mark this time of the year has come and gone. Visiting relatives have departed; the college crowd has returned to the campuses. The turkey leftovers have been eaten or stashed away in the freezer for future reference. All that is left of Thanksgiving Day is a bit of cranberry sauce, pleasant memories, and plans for a repeat performance at Christmas time.

The memories are worth savoring. For whether such family dinners are plain or fancy, there is a special quality about most of them that makes all the hullabaloo and preparation worthwhile. Grandmas and aunts bustling in the kitchen, small fry giggling and teasing underfoot, menfolk savoring the bird or watching a TV football game in stuffed contemplation—these are the pictures that linger in the mind.

Out of family gatherings and the holiday traditions that inspire them come the memories of family life that will enrich and inspire today's children and grandchildren for many years to come. Long may the clans gather.

THE U. S. SOLD ERHARD DOWN THE RIVER Suddenly, with a sense of horror, certain people in the United States are discovering that nationalism is stirring again in Germany. The tendency is to equate it with something called "Neo-Nazism." I am not so sure that this tendency makes sense. After all, one can be a nationalist without being either a totalitarian or a racist, and at this particular point in German history there is no demand whatsoever for a Fascist economy and hardly enough Jews living inside the Reich to provide a target for racial antipathies even if there were any. But to the extent that the contemporary resurgence of German nationalism is to be considered a bad thing, the U. S. has no one to blame for it but its own policy makers.

The fact is that Washington has done Chancellor Ludwig Erhard in. Erhard visited this country recently in hopes of getting support for his government. We had been forcing Bonn to pay for American arms that the Germans did not need or want, the idea being that this would return some of the dollars that have been going from the U. S. to support American soldiers in Europe. In Washington Dr. Erhard discovered that Secretary of Defense McNamara was insisting that the bargain of German arms purchases in return for U. S. soldier maintenance must be carried out. President Johnson took McNamara's side of the argument despite efforts on the part of Secretary of State Dean Rusk to soften the conditions—and poor Ludwig Erhard went home empty-handed. It wasn't long before his enemies were demanding his scalp.

What the Germans have learned is that they can trust nobody but themselves. Last August, in the Rhineland, I heard incontrovertibly democratic Germans complaining that neither France nor Britain was really interested in German reunification. The British were primarily concerned with saving money on the cost of defending Germany, and the French seemed bent on liquidating NATO. Erhard's disillusionment with Washington was just one more blow.

Washington's alienation of the Germans is something that is dictated by our current pro-Soviet policy. With a single-minded absorption in the business of settling the war in Viet Nam, Lyndon Johnson is trying desperately to get Moscow to bring the North Vietnamese to the peace table. We are offering trade bait to the East European Communist countries and to Russia itself. But the joker in all this is that the Soviets always take what they can get and give only what they were prepared to give anyway. They will accede to no gain from prolonging the struggle.

As for eastern Europe, the Soviets want co-existence there for the simple reason that it protects vulnerable borders. We don't have to sell West Germany down the river to improve our trade relations with Hungary or Rumania. On the other hand, the fact that the Russians want co-existence for eastern Europe does not mean they want it elsewhere in the world, provided they can foment trouble without cost to themselves. Everything is compartmentalized in the Soviet policy; they are perfectly capable of working for détente in East Europe at the same time they are busy stirring trouble between Syria and Israel in the Near East. And they will make a play for peace in Southeast Asia without reference to either East Europe or the Near East at the precise moment that the U. S. is about to defeat the Viet Cong.

Since all of this is axiomatic with anyone who knows anything about Communist political strategy, our wooing of Moscow at the expense of Germany is simple-minded. Moreover, it ignores a hundred years of German history. The Germans are perfectly capable of making their own deals with the Russians if they aren't getting security from the West. The National Democratic Party, which recently made such startling gains in Bavaria, wants foreign troops to leave German soil. But Germany can only afford to give up western protection by coming to its own terms with Russia. This was a lesson taught by Bismarck long ago. The Germans forgot it when they took on enemies on two fronts in two world wars. But they aren't likely to forget it again. The meaning is plain: we will either bind the Germans to us, or they will go to the East.

Bothersome Skin Diseases Possible to Control

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I have had seborrheic eczema for a year. I am being treated by a general practitioner and a dermatologist but I am not cured yet. What do you advise?

A—Seborrhea, seborrheic dermatitis and seborrheic eczema are synonyms. This disease can usually be controlled but not cured. The first step in treatment is to shampoo thoroughly. After wetting your hair, lather your scalp, allowing the lather to remain on your scalp three or four minutes before rinsing. This will remove the top layer of dirt and dandruff. It is important to repeat the process, massaging your scalp gently while lathering and being careful not to scratch it with your fingernails. If shampooing twice a week makes your scalp dry you should shampoo every six or seven days.

For the itching, scaling lesions that may appear on the face or chest you should apply a 5 per cent sulfur ointment made with a greasy base, using it at night before going to bed.

Amples rest and avoidance of chocolate, nuts, greasy foods, salt, spices and pork are also recommended. Occasional flareups can be expected even with the best of treatment.

Q—About a year ago my ears began to itch down inside. The doctor said there was no fungus or anything he could see. What could cause this?

A—The most likely cause is seborrhea. The treatment is discussed in the preceding answer.

Q—Is dandruff a disease? How do you get rid of it?

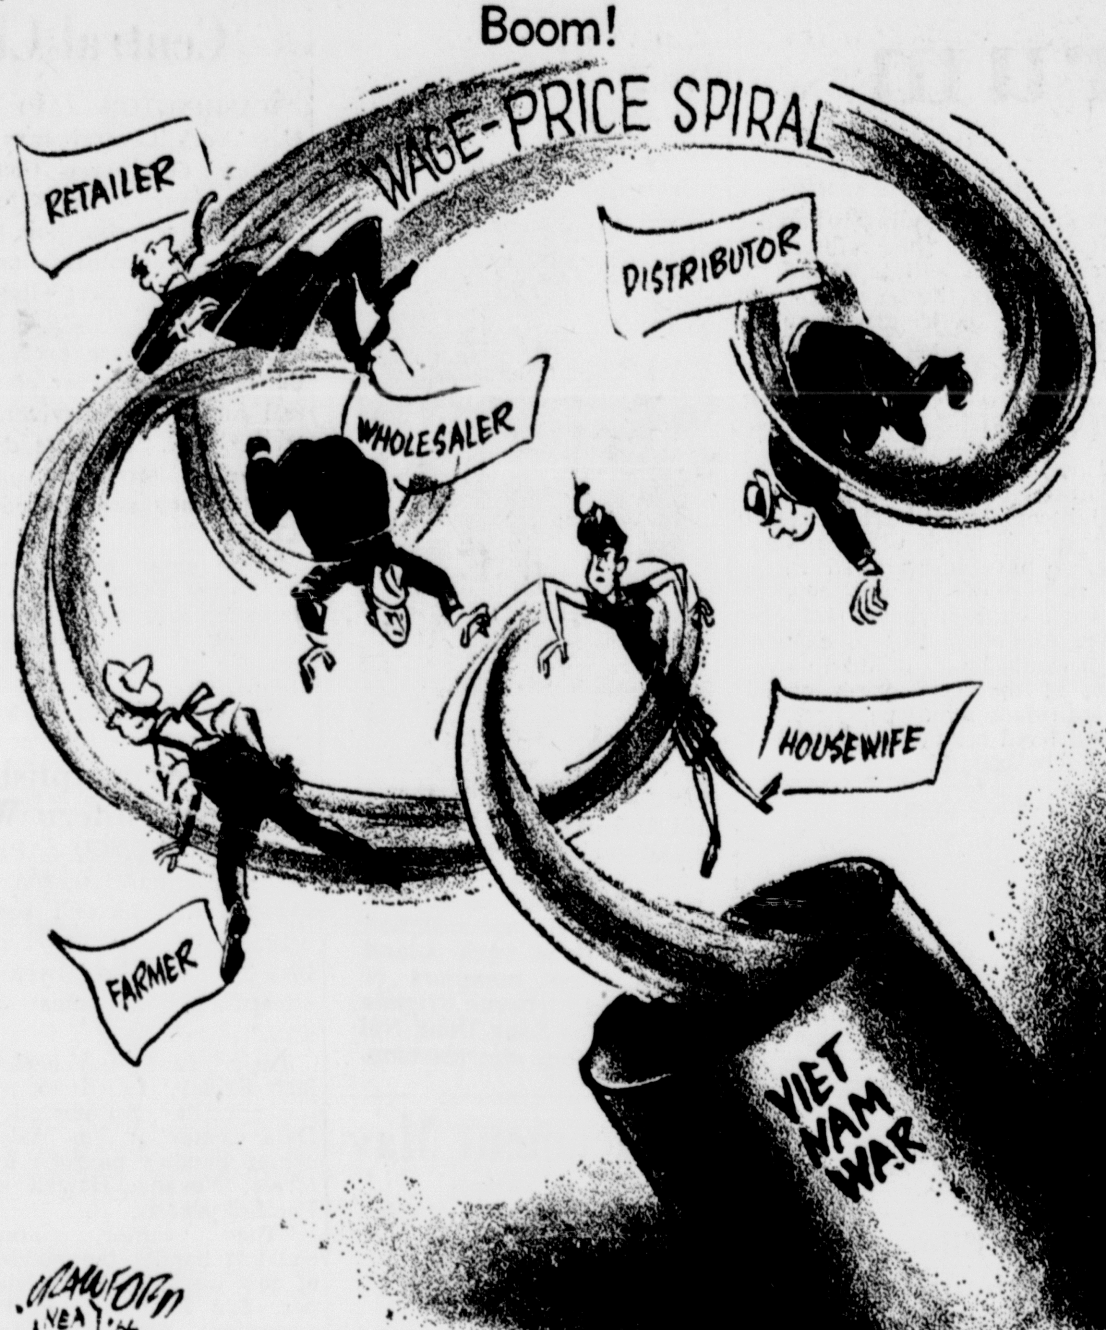

A—A certain amount of scaling of the scalp is normal. When it is excessive and extends to the face and chest it is called seborrhea. For simple dandruff, frequent shampooing is all that is needed.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

year of Apollo. The United States had 1966 all to itself so far as space flights were concerned. But in 1967 the Soviet Union may steal some of our thunder.

There is not much to go on. However, the Russians have announced a series of rocket launching such as have preceded earlier manned space shots. Also, there have been some vague published indications that tests on a new multi-seat spaceship have been completed. Some Western experts consider it likely that the Russians will try out something special in the way of manned space flight early in 1967.

This is to be expected, and taken in stride—even if, as seems possible, the Russians achieve something rather sensational which puts them a step ahead of us in the off-again, on-again race to the moon. The Russians have not staged a manned space flight since March 1965, whereas the United States carried out 10 of the dozen Gemini shots. It is clearly about time the Russians made another move.

LONG XUYEN, South Viet Nam (NEA) — Back in Saigon, Vietnamese friends had said it was essential to visit the Hoa Hao, a small, vigorous religious sect. The rumor (unconfirmed) is that John Foster Dulles is one of their saints.

Hoa Hao territory is one of the very sizable areas in South Viet Nam (not under U. S. or major Vietnamese military occupation) listed as free of VC control. The Communists have bumbled into a dead wall in Hoa Hao territory, these friends say. Agents who move into Hoa Hao areas have no place to hide and no friends to help them. They're exposed by the farmers as soon as they move in.

The story is told of VC agents who appeared in a market place near here. The Hoa Hao women drove them off with sticks. Other agents just disappear. Sometimes their bodies are found, sometimes not.

Some experts in Saigon scoff. They say Hoa Hao territory is free because the leaders have made a deal with the Reds. Others report the Viet Minh quite some time ago killed the leader of the Hoa Hao; these people, they say, have not forgotten.

Neither of these "explanations" seemed to tell the whole story. So this correspondent came to Long Xuyen.

We flew by helicopter to this provincial capital, then drove out into the countryside, picked a village at random.

The homes and farms we passed seemed better kept than in most places this reporter had seen in South Viet Nam. There was a neatness and order that indicated the pride of the owners in what they were doing.

In the village, we stopped at the first roadside eating house and, after ordering, struck up a conversation with a young man sitting at the next table. Yes, he said, he was a Hoa Hao. He was a private in the reserves. He didn't have the patient hopelessness of many farmers elsewhere. He was confident. He felt he and his unit could handle the Communists. He was looking forward to the future.

We talked for a long time. My object was to find out how and why he and his neighbors were so united, industrious, so well-disciplined and competent in handling their farm and in warding off the Communists.

Could their success be expanded into other areas of South Viet Nam?

As we talked about life in this village, about religion, soldiering, work and this activity and that, finally, after much questioning, one thing came through.

It was firm in this young man's mind that he'd gotten his strength from daily family worship services at home. It was the thing that meant the most to him in his religion and in his life.

Sometimes this daily worship took the form of long family religious discussions. At other times there was silent meditation together or a short ritual. But there was something every day—with the family.

This reporter talked to other Hoa Hao that day. However the conversation started, when this reporter started probing for what gave any man of the group his strength and feeling of unity, the talk came back to the daily family worship. All Hoa Hao families, they said, worshiped together every day.

There were differences on many things in this village—but not on this.

In total disregard of the administration's "guidelines," preparations now are being made by labor leaders to revise existing contracts by substantial increases in the next few months. Management's executives are astonished at the administration's indifference.

The views of Roger Blough, chairman of the board of U. S. Steel Corporation, are shared by many businessmen. He declared the other day in a speech at Stanford University that automatic wage increases pegged to the cost-of-living index are "engines of inflation which impart a kind of perpetual motion to the whole wage-price spiral." He also said the failure of the government to see that wage-price "guidelines" were followed "demonstrate fairly conclusively... how impotent the government is, under existing laws, to cope with the virtually unlimited power of organized labor to raise the costs of production at will."

While Mr. Blough didn't advocate wage-and-price control, he indicated that inflation can be dealt with effectively only by "reducing the political hazards involved in curtailing excessive government expenditures and the too-rapid expansion of the money supply." He added that the "real leak in the inflation bucket" is the fact that government expenditures have more than doubled since 1950. Since that year, he pointed out, the employee's share of the national income has risen from 64 to 70 per cent, while the proportion going to profits has dropped from 10 per cent to eight per cent.

Nobody likes wage-and-price controls, but in England they've put them into effect for the last six months to save the pound from devaluation. Labor unions in America have had enough political power to prevent a wage freeze, but the administration currently must decide whether it prefers to keep labor's support or run the risk of a landslide defeat in 1968 if a severe recession occurs between now and the next presidential election.

The news that productivity per hour work is declining, while wage increases are continuing, presents a dilemma for both the President and Congress. The day is fast approaching when the only way out for the administration will be to recommend a law fixing wages and prices. This has happened before in wartime — in World War I, World War II and the Korean War.

Today the Viet Nam war is increasing in expense and is affecting the national economy directly. It would be logical for the government to exercise control over wages and prices in selected if not all industries and to make the law last until an armistice comes in the Viet Nam war. Politics is the only barrier. "Voluntary" restraints have proved inadequate. But the administration, in the opinion of many businessmen, can hardly continue to be one-sided any longer and must apply its economic policies impartially.

Dilemma Facing LBJ, Solons On Productivity, Wage Hikes

WASHINGTON — An important piece of information has just been released by the Commerce Department here, but its far-reaching significance has not been emphasized or even commented on by anyone in the administration. What has been revealed is that wage increases are exceeding in pace the productivity per hour of work throughout the country.

This could mean not only a rise in prices for manufactured goods but some reductions in profit margins. As unit costs cannot always be immediately reflected in higher prices.

The government's statement says that the change in productivity began in September and continued through October. Labor leaders nevertheless are proclaiming anew that in the year 1967 they will demand at least a five per cent increase in wages in various industries. Even the Secretary of Labor, who has supported President Johnson's figure of 3.2 per cent as a proper increase in wages based on productivity, now announces that five per cent is a justifiable figure to be followed hereafter. This is based on the theory that the cost of living has increased.

But the government's own figures show that since 1950 the cost of living has gone up 37 per cent, while hourly earnings have climbed 91 per cent. Thus, in terms of actual purchasing power, the earnings of labor have risen 39 per cent.

In total disregard of the administration's "guidelines," preparations now are being made by labor leaders to revise existing contracts by substantial increases in the next few months. Management's executives are astonished at the administration's indifference.

The views of Roger Blough, chairman of the board of U. S. Steel Corporation, are shared by many businessmen. This has happened before in wartime — in World War I, World War II and the Korean War.

Today the Viet Nam war is increasing in expense and is affecting the national economy directly. It would be logical for the government to exercise control over wages and prices in selected if not all industries and to make the law last until an armistice comes in the Viet Nam war. Politics is the only barrier. "Voluntary" restraints have proved inadequate. But the administration, in the opinion of many businessmen, can hardly continue to be one-sided any longer and must apply its economic policies impartially.

Premier Seizes Burundi While Young King Away

BRUSSELS (AP) — The Belgian radio reported today that the monarchy was overthrown Monday night in the tiny central African kingdom of Burundi and a republic proclaimed.

The report said Premier Michel Micombero, an army captain, seized the property of the 12-year-old king, Ntare V, while the king was in the neighboring Congo attending the celebration of the first anniversary of President Joseph Mobutu's regime.

Ntare, the former Crown Prince Charles Ndirizeye, took over the throne in July with Micombero's help while his father, 61-year-old King Mwambutsa IV, was in Switzerland for medical treatment. The young prince was crowned Sept. 1. His father charged he was being used as a puppet by extremist elements.

Burundi and the neighboring republic of Rwanda, which Belgium administered until July 1, 1962, have been torn for years by conflict between the rival Watutsi and Bahutu tribes. For some time the influence of Watutsi extremists with close contacts with the Chinese Communists has been growing in Burundi.

Located on the east central border of the Congo, Burundi has an area of 10,747 square miles slightly larger than Maryland — and a population of about 3 million. Rwanda is 581 square miles smaller and has about the same number of people.

Road Toll Hits 748 for Holiday

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's traffic deaths during the extended Thanksgiving weekend reached an all-time record for the holiday of 748.

The total surpassed the previous record high of 720 for a holiday set in the three-day Christmas weekend of 1965. The count of deaths in traffic accidents during the four-day Thanksgiving weekend covered a period of 102 hours, from 6 p.m. (local time) Wednesday to midnight Sunday.

An Associated Press comparative survey of traffic fatalities during a nonholiday period from 6 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 9 through Sunday, Nov. 15, showed 546 deaths.

This year's Thanksgiving weekend toll compared to 615 last year, the highest for the period since AP tabulations were started eight years ago.

A spokesman for the National Safety Council said the tragic figures were not too surprising in view of the fact that a record death toll has been set each holiday period since Memorial Day 1965.

Charge Benefits Have Failed to Keep Pace

NEW YORK (AP) — The head of the state AFL-CIO charged today that New York State workmen's compensation benefits have failed to keep pace with the rising cost of living.

Raymond R. Corbett, president of the organization which claims more than two million members, said, "our workmen's compensation system is in trouble."

"We have reached the stage where there should no longer be any question, should the law be improved and revised. The only question is how," Corbett said in prepared testimony before the Joint Legislative Committee on Industrial and Labor Conditions.

Stolen Car Wrecked

The car of Edward Nauss, Box 99, Rt. 3, New Paltz, which was reported stolen last week, was recovered wrecked Saturday on Lucas Avenue Extension. Mrs. Goldman of Lucas Avenue Extension reported to the sheriff's office that a car was in the ditch off the road. Investigation by Deputy Sheriffs J. Walsh and Peter Peterson disclosed that the Volkswagen had struck a guard rail on Lucas Avenue Extension, went down a steep ditch and turned over. It was reported the two occupants had left the vehicle and fled in the woods. A search of the roads and area by deputies disclosed no one. The car was towed from the scene and the owner notified. The investigation is being continued.

Mrs. Anderson Honored

Mrs. Hilda Anderson of Hurley, who for several years was associated with the Ulster County Motor Vehicle Bureau office and recently employed in the county clerk's office, will be retiring on December 2. Mrs. Anderson has been associated with the county since December 1925. Today Mrs. Anderson was the guest of the women employees of the county clerk's office at a luncheon at Leher's Restaurant. She was presented with a gift.

Summer Home Entered

Entrance to the summer home of Vincent Montorello of 2196 East Third Street, Brooklyn, was reported to the sheriff's department Monday. The summer home is located on Scrawan Road, off Peak Road, Stone Ridge. The entrance was reported by Mrs. Albert Kerber of Peak Road. Deputy Sheriff John McSpirt was assigned to conduct an investigation. At this time it is not known whether anything was taken. The investigation was being continued today by County Investigator Thomas Mayone.

Today in Washington

Preference for Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — A poll of delegates and alternates to the 1964 Republican National Convention shows a preference for Richard M. Nixon as the party's 1968 presidential nominee, says the conservative Washington weekly "Human Events."

The former vice president was the choice of 38 per cent of the 1,050 persons who replied to the publication's poll.

Bigger Wage Boosts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Major contract agreements this year have produced bigger wage increases than in any of the past three years, says the Labor Department.

Increases won this year by 1.3 million workers have averaged 3.8 per cent annually, compared with hikes of 3.3 per cent in 1965, 3 per cent in 1964 and 2.3 per cent in 1963, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said Monday. The figures do not include the value of fringe benefits.

Communist Step Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Organization of American States says international communism is stepping up its campaign to overthrow independent governments in Asia, Africa and Latin America.

A report adopted 17 to 0 centered about a conference of 512 delegates from 82 countries and territories held last January in Havana.

"The aid provided by the Soviet Union, Communist China and other Communist countries to subversive movements is, of course, nothing new," said the report. "nor is the fact that Cuba is serving as principal agent and base in this hemisphere."

Capital Footnotes

Secretary of State Dean Rusk says trips of congressmen abroad are of great benefit.

Military officers in Viet Nam now can exclude $500 monthly instead of $200 of their pay from the income tax.

The Justice Department has told Cassius Clay's draft board what it thinks of the heavy-weight boxing champion's request for a conscientious objector exemption from military service, but won't make its opinion public.

Seeking Wrong Careers

JAIPUR, India (AP)—Rajasthan state school authorities have a problem. Recent tests showed that 92 per cent of the state's university students were seeking careers for which they had neither the ability nor the aptitude.

Virginia Denies Quitting Buddhism

TAIPEI (AP) — Virginia Aiken, the 23-year-old Rochester, N.Y. girl who was ordained a Buddhist nun in Formosa last year, denied today she had quit Buddhism and returned to Christianity.

"All I have done was to give up the life of a Buddhist nun for the life of a Buddhist lay follower," she told The Associated Press.

According to the rules, she said, she could return to the life of a Buddhist nun three times, "but I very much doubt whether I'll ever go back."

"At the same time," she said, "the way I feel now, I cannot conceive the idea of giving up Buddhism itself."

"Buddhism satisfies all my spiritual wants."

Hold Greene Hospital Worker on Charge

An ex-employee of the Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill, was arrested by State Troopers Monday on a charge stemming from theft of a vacuum cleaner from the hospital.

Henry Mesorano, 38, Catskill, entered a plea of innocent after troopers from the Catskill barracks charged him with petit larceny. According to authorities, the cleaner is valued at $50 and had been sold to another person for $10.

The case was adjourned until 2 p. m. Friday, by Justice of the Peace George Carl.

Hudson Extends Free Parking Time for Yule

The city of Hudson which usually gives shoppers a Christmas present of two weeks free parking, has upped that period from Dec. 5 to Dec. 26. During that time all parking meter charges are off. This year the city Common Council voted to extend the free parking period to three weeks before Christmas.

Free parking will include the city's municipal parking lot as well as the parking meters on the streets.

During the three weeks of free parking, shoppers may park either at curb meters or in the municipal parking lot without charge while doing Christmas shopping.

Pinschers Too Smart

LONDON (AP) — Britain's police have decided to stop using Doberman pinschers, the fierce-looking German guard dogs, for police work.

After using Dobermans experimentally with a number of British police forces, they said today the dogs are too smart.

One dog handler commented: "An Alsatian will go for an armed man if I tell him to but a Doberman is likely to spot the gun and the potential danger and just sit down."

The rotating telephone dial was first patented in 1896.

Aware of Fear

Pentagon Almost Doubles Viet
Missions of 52s

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon, aware the Viet Cong fear sudden bombing attacks most, has almost doubled the force of B52s flying missions to Viet Nam.

Sources said today about 20 of the big bombers have joined the 30-plane fleet of Stratoforts based on Guam, 2,000 miles from South Viet Nam.

Plans are to step up bombing raids against Communist troop concentrations and supply areas.

No Warning From Sky

Informed sources say interrogation of captured Viet Cong shows the guerrillas dread the unexpected rain of bombs more than any hardship or war tactic, including encounters with U.S. ground troops.

The explanation for this is that the guerrillas are fairly successful in avoiding combat with American units. But they get no warning from the high-flying B52s and, unless they are near reinforced underground tunnels, have no way to evade the 500-pound and 750-pound bombs.

Sources said the increase in the B52 force is proof the military command in Saigon is sold on the value of the big bomber, once envisioned only as a deliverer of the nuclear punch.

Some Question Value

Critics have alleged that the B52s have questionable value and that using them against the Viet Cong is like shooting at a mouse with a cannon.

Still, commanders in South Viet Nam call almost daily for B52 raids to support ground operations.

Since the Stratoforts went into operation in June 1965 the massive aircraft have flown hundreds of strikes, dropping more than 100,000 tons of explosives.

The B52 can now carry 108 500-pound bombs — 27 tons — per trip.

Although it would not likely be ordered, a 50-plane B52 raid could direct 1,500 tons of explosives against a single target. Generally three to six planes are used in a single strike.

Radiation Flak
Difficulty Seen

By RALPH DIGHTON

Associated Press Science Writer
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Shielding supersonic transport—SST—passengers from radiation flak in the fringes of the atmosphere will be quite difficult, a Federal Aviation Agency official said today.

Dr. Pete V. Siegel, federal air surgeon, said in a talk prepared for the annual clinical meeting of the American Medical Association that studies are under way "to gain knowledge of the radiation environment so that predictions can be made of the possible damage or genetic effects on occupants" of the planes.

Supersonic transports, expected to cross continents and oceans at speeds up to 2,000 miles an hour in the 1970s, are to cruise at 70,000 feet — twice the height of current airliners. At this altitude, the atmosphere is thin and provides much less shielding against radiation from the sun and other sources in the galaxy.

One "somewhat baffling" factor, Dr. Siegel said, "revolves around the fact that we do not know much about the biological effects of heavy particles (of radiation) which, for the SST occupant, will constitute a sort of microscopic antiaircraft or 'flak' environment."

Dr. Siegel noted that SST travelers will be subject both to primary radiation and to secondary radiation sparked when primary particles hit the atmosphere, the aircraft and its occupants.

This background radiation, he said, "is one factor that makes any attempt to shield the occupant of an SST quite difficult. The weight and amount of shielding feasible for SST use which can remove these secondaries cannot adequately control the very high energy."

Today's Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF, AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Retailers are facing one of their biggest challenges ever during this Christmas shopping season. Even the experts are confused. The big unknown factor is the consumer mind. Everyone knows he's thinking of money. But is he thinking of spending it or saving it?

There have been many years in the past, poorer years by far than 1966, when department stores and other retailers could forecast with complete confidence that sales would be higher than the previous year.

There is a very good chance that such a forecast will come true this year. The consumer has the money. There are more consumers than ever before.

But forecasting is less certain, because consumer buying habits in the past few months have become very difficult to predict. Some of the signals are even contradictory.

Through much of this year Americans received a hard-knock course in household economics as they strove to beat inflation. By early fall, back from his expensive vacation, the consumer threw up his hands in frustration. Inflation put him in a sour mood and he still may be in it.

Jumble of Events

The factors affecting consumer habits during the past few months are a jumble of events, some of them seemingly irrelevant to the situation.

Among them: inflation, high interest rates, the fear of recession, the Viet Nam war, criticism of products from various sources and a resultant lessening of confidence in goods, an erratic stock market, the balance of payments deficit.

The lessening of confidence apparently was a cumulative thing. Through much of the summer, retail sales continued to rise month to month. But in September the rise was broken. Sales dropped, although slightly.

Throughout the year the University of Michigan measured consumer attitudes, not by the cash register as much as by interviews. This survey, in itself, tells story.

In the last half of 1965 consumers were more confident than at any time in 20 years, the university said.

By April, the consumer was described as "guardedly optimistic," but nevertheless satisfied. He even believed the Viet Nam war made for good times at home without causing shortages of goods.

Consumer Optimism Weakens

By June, the American consumer was less optimistic both about the future of business and about his own spending intentions. "Consumer optimism has the past six months," the university said.

By Fall, his willingness to spend appeared to have deteriorated further. It was being noted in lower, but still high, car sales for one thing; and in shopper resistance at supermarkets. Curiously, Viet Nam no longer was considered a "good" business factor.

Nevertheless, the study determined that many people — despite the gloomy attitude — continued to make plans to spend large amounts of money on automobiles or home appliances. Why?

It's a good question, one of many that the poker-faced consumer isn't answering for the retailer. Only the cash register will give the answer.

Original Minstrels

Negro slaves originated the minstrel show, the only native American theatrical form, in the sense that the first minstrel shows, beginning in the early 19th century with Negro impersonators, were based on the singing and dancing of slaves.

West N.Y. Given 6-Inch Blanket; Winds Cut Power

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Sections of Western New York were coated with as much as six inches of heavy wet snow today and faced nothing more than scattered flurries during the day, the Weather Bureau said.

A storm that began Monday afternoon deposited six inches of snow at Gowanda, south of Buffalo, and at Franklinville, in Cattaraugus County.

The Jamestown area reported four to six inches.

Newburgh Gets Snow

Nearly two inches of snow fell, meanwhile, at Oswego, in Northern New York, and more than one inch at Newburgh, in the Hudson Valley, and at Binghamton, in the Southern Tier.

Weathermen said temperatures across the state were expected to range generally from the mid 30s in western counties to possibly 50 or higher in Northeastern New York and east of Lake Ontario.

The Monday storm brought reports of brief power failures in scattered southwestern counties.

Cause Minor Blackouts

Elsewhere, wind gusts up to 40 miles an hour caused minor blackouts in sections of Rome, Utica and Herkimer.

The Buffalo Airport was closed for two hours Monday because of limited visibility. The snowfall there measured just over two inches.

No deaths or serious accidents were blamed on the storm, and work crews kept roads open.

Rickard Jury . . .

Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge.

The body has never been recovered.

Following the resting of the prosecution case, Francis Martocci, who with Joseph Saccamano appears for defendant, asked that the jury be excused while motions were made by defense counsel.

Martocci moved to strike out certain exhibits, including pictures of the exterior and interior of a trailer. He argued no foundation had been laid and it was not shown by testimony that the pictures were of the Rossiello trailer in which the little boy had allegedly been killed, and further that the exhibit did not show the trailer as it was in November of 1964.

Testimony given by 11-year-old Edward Rossiello, brother of Victor, was sought to be stricken from the record on the grounds the 11-year-old boy should not have been placed under oath because of his age.

Martocci also moved to strike from the record the testimony of Mrs. Rossiello, mother of the boy, on the grounds that it had been established by her own testimony that she had perjured herself. It was also moved that the testimony of Edward Rossiello in relation to the club being thrown in the Grand Canyon by Rickard be stricken from the record on the grounds it had not been shown that the club was the one allegedly used when the boy was fatally beaten.

All Motions Denied

All of the motions were denied by Judge Martocci.

Martocci then moved for a directed verdict of acquittal. He said the body of the boy had never been recovered and it had not been proven beyond any reasonable doubt that the boy had been murdered and that he "may well still be alive." The motion was further based on the theory that "restitution" had not been shown or willful murder. It was noted that the only testimony given of any "beating" by Rickard had been that of an 8 or 9 year old boy who testified that he had seen Rickard strike his little brother with a club. It was pointed out by Martocci that Mrs. Rossiello had never seen Rickard strike the boy and the only testimony to that effect was allegations by Mrs. Rossiello and Edward that Rickard was "fated" that he had struck the boy. Martocci argued that there was insufficient evidence to convict and moved for a dismissal of the indictment.

District Attorney Torraca pointed out that Edward Rossiello had testified to the beating after the alleged beating and had found a jury to determine whether there had been "premeditation."

Judge Mino dismissed the motion for a directed verdict of acquittal.

Scarsello Recalled

The first witness called by the defense was Scarsello, operator of a Lake Katrine trailer park who had purchased the Rossiello trailer some four days after the alleged death of Victor. He had previously been called as a witness for the prosecution.

The witness said he had bought the trailer Nov. 20, 1964 and taken it to his trailer park on Route 9W near Lake Katrine where he had fumigated it, sterilized the furnishings.

Did Not Recall Stains

Asked if he had observed any stains of blood in the trailer, Scarsello said he had not.

At this point a recess was taken until 10 a. m. today when Martocci said he had no additional witnesses available, explaining that he had not anticipated The People's case to terminate so quickly. The case, which has been going on for the past eight days, was adjourned until today.

Set Albany Meet On Ambulances

ALBANY—The Advisory Committee on Ambulance Services will meet Dec. 1 to hear subcommittee reports and make recommendations to the State Health Commissioner about regulations for the new ambulance law. Dr. Hollis S. Ingraham, State Health Commissioner, announced today.

The meeting will take place at 2 p. m. in Room 200 of the Health Department in Albany.

The new law empowers the Health Commissioner to establish minimum standards in staffing, personnel training, equipment and service for profit-making ambulance services in the State. The law exempts 1,030 volunteer ambulance services.

The advisory committee is composed of representatives of organizations with an interest in ambulance services.

The law upgrading the quality of emergency medical services was unanimously passed by both houses of the 1966 Legislature and becomes effective Jan. 1, 1967.

At its first meeting on Oct. 6, the advisory committee recommended that funeral directors who provide invalid coach service to rural areas be exempt from some provisions of the law. They advised that these exemptions be granted to funeral directors who serve areas with populations too small to support a volunteer service in areas where no other ambulance service exists.

Subcommittees were appointed at the meeting to investigate specific areas of the legislation more closely. The subcommittee will report the results of their studies at the Dec. 1 meeting.

Teen Age Dances

In the November 25 issue of the Daily Freeman, there appeared an account of a disturbance near the American Legion Hall in Tillon. The facts, generally were correct as the article stated.

In all fairness however, to the Rosendale-Tillon Post of the American Legion, the following should also be made known.

The Legion had previously sponsored five of these teen age dances, for the benefit of the youngsters in the area. Sponsorship certainly wasn't done for any possible benefits which might accrue to the Legion Post.

Further, these dances have always been properly chaperoned by both Legion and Auxiliary members, and 12 in all, for approximately 85 boys and girls.

Since our Post grounds were the point of origin for the disturbances, we feel called upon to make these additional details known to the public, and to emphasize the fact that the ensuing disorders took place off the Legion property.

Assessors Hear Molyneaux Talk

The regular meeting of the Ulster County Assessors Association was held in the Supervisors Room of the Ulster County Office Building in Kingston, with an attendance of 15 assessors and three guests.

County Attorney Abram Molyneaux spoke on real estate transfers of title under estate settlements not now reported on the regular transfer reports transmitted by the county clerk. After considering the complications and delays occurring when estates are administered, those in attendance decided that lawyers concerned in estate transactions could be very helpful to the assessor in reporting real estate involved. Molyneaux offered to present the proposition to the Ulster County Bar Association at their meeting at an early date.

Allan Coles, machine tabulating department supervisor, described a proposed method of indicating 50 per cent tax exemption on the correction notices and the assessment roll by the use of an extra symbol.

A suggestion that the next regular meeting to be held on Saturday during the day was approved and arrangements authorized for a place and a program.

Dewey Logan, past assessor of Kingston, was approved and accepted as an associate member of the association.

Dear Abby . . .

This Dads Not Much of A Man

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: John and I have been married for 2 years and he still hasn't told his parents that I have a 4-year-old son, Ricky, by a previous marriage. John told them I was a divorcee (he was also divorced), but because his parents lived out of state my son was never mentioned.

John's parents are coming to visit us over the holidays so John wants me to send Ricky somewhere — just "hide" him because he's not ready to tell his parents about him yet. Abby, when we were first married, John asked me not to let on that I had a child, so I had to listen to other mothers talk about their children, and show pictures, while I kept quiet.

Well, I think I've kept quiet long enough. I love John, but I can't take much more of this. What should I do?

SECRET MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Tell John that when his parents come, either Ricky will be very much in evidence and introduced as your son, or he will be well-hidden — out of sight, permanently. And wherever Ricky is, YOU will be right beside him. Let John decide.

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 years old. I was at a party the other night and I met a boy. We liked each other right away and before I knew it we were in the bedroom making out. (Nothing serious happened.) There were about 155 other kids there, including some football players from our high school.

This boy is a key club member and is neat up at school. Abby, whenever I see him in the halls, he doesn't even speak to me. You would think he never saw me before. This has me confused. What's wrong with him? Or is it me?

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: You were foolish to "make out" with a boy you just met at a party. He is either (a) ashamed of himself, (b) doesn't want anyone to know he knows you, (c) doesn't recognize you in the light.

DEAR ABBY: My baby chose to arrive on the night that a friend of mine was giving a baby shower in my honor. Because of this I wasn't at the shower and I don't even know who attended it. My problem is that the hostess never turned over any of the gifts to me.

My little girl is a year old now so it is likely that many of the gifts would be useful at this time. I am so embarrassed when I see friends who may have attended the shower and brought a gift. They must think I'm terrible for not having thanked them.

I've given the hostess several broad hints about giving me the gifts, but she never has. How can I clear up this complicated mess without embarrassing anybody?

CONCERNED

DEAR CONCERNED: Unless you've been in poor health for the last year I see no reason why this "mess" (which is not at all "complicated") has not been cleared up.

Simply ask the hostess for the shower gifts and acknowledge each one. If she refuses, ask a friend who was there to write to each one, with your thanks, explanations and apologies for your tardiness.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, inclose a self-addressed stamped envelope.

AFL-CIO Points To One Million Boost in Ranks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO said today it swelled the ranks of organized labor by about 1 million members in the past three years, reversing seven lean years of dwindling membership.

Latest figures show that "AFL-CIO unions broke all recent yearly records for organizing success in fiscal 1966," the big labor federation reported. Membership has "continued to move upward" in the five months since the end of the fiscal year, a spokesman said.

The gains bring a total membership of the AFL-CIO's 129 unions to a record high of approximately 13.5 million, the spokesman said.

Approximately 2.7 million more workers belong to independent unions not affiliated with the AFL-CIO.

The new evidence of steadily advancing membership eases one of the chief worries of many labor leaders that unions were losing ground in the growing and rapidly changing economy. The number of "blue collar" factory workers has dropped sharply in recent years, but the over-all gains indicate labor success in signing up white collar office workers and employees in the expanding service trades.

The AFL-CIO noted the gain of almost 244,000 members in fiscal 1966 followed "sharp gains" in 1964 and 1965. The figures are based on employed, dues-paying workers — excluding workers on strike and retired members, which many unions often use to fatten official membership figures.

The three-year rise brought total membership up from 12.4 million members in 1963, the lowest point since 1955 when the federation was formed in the merger of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Income Taxpayers Will Get Filing Bonus of 2 Days

WASHINGTON (AP) — The taxpayer who waits until the last minute to file his yearly income tax return will get a two-day bonus next spring — the filing deadline has been extended to April 17.

And the Internal Revenue Service said it should be easier for the more than 65 million individual taxpayers to complete their returns next year because the few changes made in the tax form should simplify matters, not complicate them.

Changes made by Congress this year in tax laws will have no effect on the new tax forms. For example, the new law which permits taxpayers to divert $1 of their tax — $2 for married couples filing joint returns — to a presidential campaign fund doesn't go into effect for another year.

The form to be filled out in early 1968 for 1967 taxes will include a small box to be checked by the taxpayer if he wants to do this.

Even if Congress should raise taxes early next year, the new forms would be unaffected. The forms filled out in early 1967 are for this year's taxes.

The two-day filing bonus results because the normal April 15 deadline falls on a Saturday. In such cases, IRS usually gives taxpayers until the next business day to submit returns.

The biggest change in the upcoming filing period will be in the handling of the returns by the government.

For the first time since it began data processing operations in 1962, IRS will send every tax return through a complete computer check. Only about half the individual returns got the full treatment this year.

This means a check not only of arithmetic, but also comparisons of each return with data on dividends and interest sent to the government by a taxpayer's bank, savings and loan association or corporation.

The computers also are programmed to shunt aside any return on which a deduction seems out of line. These then are checked by IRS personnel.

IRS said today taxpayers should begin receiving their forms and instruction sheets just after the first of the year.

A new table has been added to the new instruction sheet to help taxpayers figure their deduction for state gasoline taxes. It is based on the approximate mileage covered in a year and the amount of a state's gasoline tax.

As President Sweats to Cut Spending

Fiscal Turkish Bath Again Underway at Ranch in Texas

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Remember those days — they seem a long way off — when President Johnson was running around the White House, turning off the lights to save money? You don't hear much about that any more. But, things have been going up all over, living costs, wages, prices and even the cost of the war in Viet Nam. Another four weeks and it will be bell-ringing time, Christmas-time. But down on Johnson's Texas ranch, from now until Christmas, it will be hand-wringing time, usual every year about now, as Johnson sweats to cut spending.

Nostalgic Homecoming

Ex-White House Families Are Guests of Current 1st Lady

By FRANCES LEWINE
WASHINGTON (AP) — Some folks who lived in the White House gathered there again and talked about it all. They remembered: —Live bats living in a second-floor chandelier, said President Benjamin Harrison's granddaughter, Marthana Harrison Williams.

House, christened in the East Room, but "received in the Blue Room — in my nurse's arms." It was all part of a homecoming party staged Monday afternoon by Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson to launch a new book out today — "The Living White House" — which she said provides revealing glimpses of the lives and times of the 34 families who occupied the White House since 1800.

Mrs. Johnson invited offspring and descendants of the former presidents. Some couldn't come. Rain kept others away. But there were 14 representatives of the presidential families of Grover Cleveland, U. S. Grant, William H. Taft, Benjamin Harrison, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Dwight D. Eisenhower on hand among 250 guests for the festivities in the state rooms.

Recalls Roughhouse —A roughhouse one Christmas that left all the Franklin D. Roosevelt sons bruised throughout the holidays, recalled Miami Beach Mayor Elliott Roosevelt, one of those five sons. —The christening of granddaughter Mary Jean in the Blue Room was the "very happy time" remembered by Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower.

Eisenhowers Lead The Eisenhowers were the largest contingent. There was former First Lady Mamie, daughter-in-law, Mrs. John S. Eisenhower and three granddaughters, Barbara Anne, 17, Susan, 14, and Mary Jean, 10. The age span of the presidential guests was from 10 to 90.

He really sweated over that one. He wanted to keep his budget lower than Kennedy's, which would be a kind of miracle, if he could. And, by jingo, he did. His budget, $97.9 billion, was just a little less than $1 billion below Kennedy's.

IT'S BETTER with SILLER BRAND BUTTER

Not at Hotel O'Rourke told a U.S. District Court jury that Schenk, in applying for the account Aug. 1, listed his employer as the Xerox Corp. as his employer, the Hamilton National Bank of Oak Ridge, Tenn. As a reference the Hotel Taft in Manhattan as his "temporary" address.

But by this time the United States was getting up to its neck in the war. Once again came that time of the fiscal Turkish bath on the Johnson ranch — November and December 1965 — with the war getting bigger and all the expenses of the "Great Society" program, which Congress had passed earlier in the year, to worry about.

Keep Your Home Ship Shape

Much to Worry About But by this time the United States was getting up to its neck in the war. Once again came that time of the fiscal Turkish bath on the Johnson ranch — November and December 1965 — with the war getting bigger and all the expenses of the "Great Society" program, which Congress had passed earlier in the year, to worry about.

So, while Johnson may have lost weight sweating about the spending, the spending itself got fatter and in January 1966, when Johnson submitted his budget for fiscal 1967, it turned out to be $112.8 billion.

$125 Billion Budget Looms Now once more Johnson is down at the ranch, getting his budget ready for fiscal 1968. And it won't be surprising if the budget doesn't come out at something like $125 billion. There has been talk it might.

Meanwhile, the economy is in a kind of tantrum which even the experts are having a time trying to analyze.

There is inflation. American defense costs, including the war costs, are going up. But new housing starts are at their lowest point in 20 years. Automobile manufacturers have cut back production. So in some ways Americans are spending more money, and in some ways they're not.

Johnson has been given a lot of advice, much of it free, that one of the very best ways to stop inflation is to raise income taxes, which is one of the very best ways to make a lot of people unhappy.

Johnson, who is probably thinking of running for re-election in 1968, isn't enthusiastic about making people unhappy. But he has to worry about inflation and the economy first. So he is thinking it over.

Says Schenk Tried To Open Account

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A suburban Rochester man accused in the $25,000 holdup of two bank tellers July 29, tried to open a $1,000 checking account in a New York City bank three days later, a federal court jury has been told.

Warren W. O'Rourke, a junior officer at a midtown Manhattan branch of the Chase Manhattan Bank, testified Monday at the trial of Werner Schenk.

Not at Hotel O'Rourke told a U.S. District Court jury that Schenk, in applying for the account Aug. 1, listed his employer as the Xerox Corp. as his employer, the Hamilton National Bank of Oak Ridge, Tenn. As a reference the Hotel Taft in Manhattan as his "temporary" address.

The bank official, in checking the hotel later, said he learned that Schenk, 34, was not registered. When Schenk reappeared at the bank the next day, O'Rourke said, he told the witness "I have a new address for you" and gave him a street address in New York City.

In checking with Xerox Corp.'s personnel office here, O'Rourke said, he was told that Schenk, a computer specialist for the firm, was a suspect in a bank robbery.

"You'll be hearing from us," he quoted a Xerox official as saying. That afternoon, he said, FBI agents called on him.

William Akers, a personnel executive for Union Carbide Corp. in Oak Ridge, told the court that Schenk had received

Gleason Show Is Season's Biggest Story on Screens

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Television's biggest success story this season is "The Jackie Gleason Show," achieving new heights by the expedient of returning to a musical comedy format that delighted the home audience eight years ago.

'Nine Day' Week Lyn Duddy, with his partner Jerry Bresler, is again turning out the music and lyrics for the from 10 to more than 20 shows after the Nielsen ratings indicated audience approval of the reunion of Gleason and his long-time partner, Art Carney.

Duddy, in New York briefly, said the big production staff is working "nine days a week" on the shows taped in Miami. "People love to see Jackie performing — more than playing host," he theorized. "And he's working harder than I've ever seen him work and apparently thrives on it. He's cheerful, enthusiastic — and available."

Gleason and Carney are not exactly professional singers, he admitted, although "Jackie has a tremendous ear for music" and Carney is a better-than-average bathroom tenor.

"But when you write music for them, you tailor-make it for their ranges," Duddy said. "That automatically knocks out certain things — we wouldn't do a song like 'Tenderly' for either of them because it involves too much range."

As Duddy and Bresler finish their songs, they put them on tapes — "You should hear Bresler do Sheila MacRae's numbers" — and turn them over to the performers.

Gleason Learns Fast "I've seen Gleason learn a song from two playings," Duddy said. "Both he and Carney like to learn their songs by playing them over and over when they are around the house."

Mid-season cancellations of television series mounted to an unlucky 13 over the weekend when CBS decided to dispatch its Thursday night "Jericho" in mid-January. The Secret Agent series, produced by MGM, was in 80th place in a list of 104 shows in the last Nielsen rating.

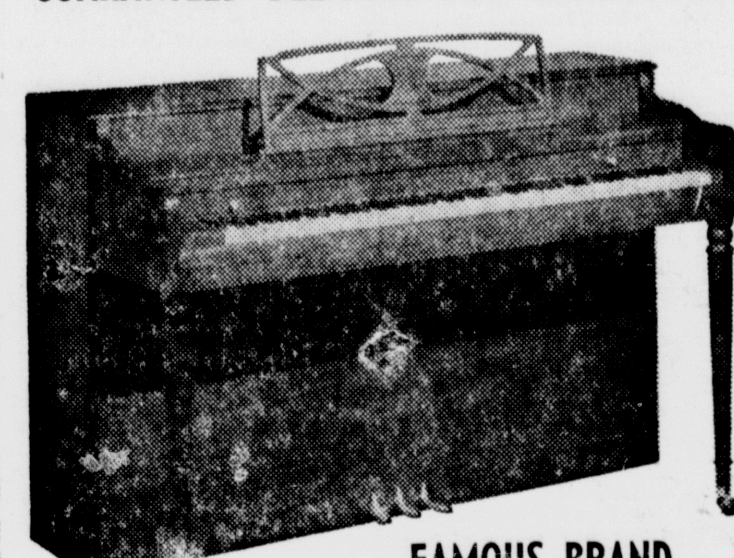

It will be replaced by "Coliseum," featuring rodeos, circuses and an ice show, all produced by Joe Cates as soon as he winds up his production chores on "The Garry Moore Show," another of CBS' four dropouts.

Delaware Basin Pushes Drought Edict to March

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Delaware River Basin Commission has extended its drought emergency until March 15.

Meeting Monday, the commission reported drought conditions in the four-state area it covers had eased, but not enough to end the emergency. Rain and stream flow levels, although improved, were still reported below normal.

The agency noted that President Johnson, in August, extended to March 15 his drought declaration in which he urged the commission "to continue its careful water management and conservation programs until the drought - relieving effect of the coming winter's snows can be predicted."

Under the extended emergency, New York City can continue to divert 490 million gallons from its Delaware River reservoirs, providing it still maintains a flow of 1,525 cubic feet a second in the river's Delaware Water Gap area.

The commission reported the salt front in the river is now five miles below Chester, Pa., a safe distance downstream from Philadelphia's water intake facility.

The commission also approved a number of projects and deferred action on two.

The projects include: Pennsylvania Game Commission, waterfowl habitat project in Pike County, Pa., a 16-foot-high dam will be constructed on Shohola Creek, a short distance upstream from the point where the creek is crossed by Route 6.

Marooned Passengers Live It Up Aboard Car Ferry

LUDINGTON, Mich. (AP) — Safe and snug, 128 passengers aboard a car ferry marooned in a raging blizzard rode out the storm by "playing cards, eating, sleeping and enjoying themselves."

As Tax Evader

Home Builder Head Will Be Sentenced Dec. 5

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A high school business teacher who left the classroom to become a home - builder will be sentenced Dec. 5 on charges of evading $157,000 in federal income taxes.

Judge Harold P. Burke of U.S. District Court set the sentencing date Monday after Frank J. Schantz, 60, of suburban Irondequoit entered a plea of no contest to a 15 - count government information.

The government contended that Schantz understated his taxable income by $330,000 over the 1959 - 1963 period. During that time, it charged, he earned $624,000 but reported only $294,000.

The government will start civil proceedings to recover the unpaid taxes after sentencing. Asst. U.S. Atty. Andrew Phelan said.

Schantz is president of the New York State Homebuilders Association and formerly headed Schantz Homes Inc. and Schantz Construction Co., both of Rochester.

He formerly taught business and coached sports at John Marshall High School here, resigning in 1945. He also was on the faculty of Binghamton Central High School at one time.

Capt. Henry Gates described the scene today aboard his car ferry, City of Midland 41.

Gale winds drove the 470-foot vessel onto a shoal Monday at the channel entrance to Ludington, a resort port off Lake Michigan.

No Danger

A breakfast "ranging from scrambled eggs to french toast - most anything they want," was being prepared for the passengers today. Gates told a newsman by radio-telephone.

"There's no danger whatsoever," said 2nd Mate Charles Carriere, 32, one of the 56 crewmen aboard the 4,000-ton vessel.

The 64-year-old captain, master of the City of Midland the past several years, said everybody was "warm and comfortable" despite the 30-degree temperatures and winds up to 50 knots. The car ferry has 60 staterooms.

Gates said the wind was diminishing enough to allow a tug to tow the car ferry off the sand bar.

May Start Towing

Officials at Ludington harbor said they expect the high winds to let up during the morning allowing towing operations to begin.

The U.S. Coast Guard stood by in case of emergency. The ferry was listing three degrees but was considered out of danger because a breakwater separated it from huge waves on Lake Michigan.

The blizzard shoved the ship, which is carrying 47 autos and several railroad freight cars, onto the shoal while it was en route to Ludington from Manitowoc, Wis.

"There is food, water and heat enough for 10 days," said Ted Winkle, manager of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad office at Ludington. The C&O owns and operates the car ferry.

Forget Drug to Help You Lose Weight

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A drug to help you lose weight? Forget it, says a New York doctor.

Appetite-suppressing drugs will, if depended on too much, doom any effort to curb obesity, said Dr. S.K. Fineberg of New York Medical College. He summarized his findings from studies of the drugs in an exhibit Monday at the annual clinical convention of the American Medical Association.

Fanfare Lacking As Phoebe Snow Rolls Last Time

HOBOKEN, N.J. (AP) — Right on the dot of her 6:20 p.m. schedule, the Erie-Lackawanna's Phoebe Snow pulled into Hoboken's station for the last time Monday. No festivities greeted her final arrival.

The 124 passengers got off the seven car train, and Phoebe Snow, the railroad's crack train since 1949 and a name associated with the line for over 60 years, became railroad history. Erie - Lackawanna officials said the train was canceled because of rising costs and declining passengers.

The westbound Phoebe Snow left Hoboken on time Sunday for her last trip to Chicago. She was filled to capacity, many passengers taking the ride out of nostalgia.

Phoebe was the creation of a turn-of-the-century advertising man. Portrayed as a lovely lady in white, Phoebe was painted on the sides of all Lackawanna trains as a symbol of the clean ride offered by the line because it used sootless anthracite coal rather than soft coal in its steam locomotives.

At General Hospital Level

Mental Health Hopeful of Psychiatric Care

As a local agency with some 900 members, working for the promotion of the best possible mental health services for Ulster County, the Ulster County Association for Mental Health is especially concerned that psychiatric facilities should be provided at the general hospital level.

Modern concepts in psychiatry have focused increasingly on facilities in the local community as the most effective elements in the society for preventing social disability because of mental illness.

Many Have Services
With this in mind, the following statements of Dr. Daniel Blain, director of Planning and Development of Psychiatric Services, Pennsylvania Hospital, are of special importance.

"Since World War II between 1,500 and 2,000 general hospitals have established psychiatric services in the United States. This has occurred chiefly because of the experience of physicians in the armed services during the war, which led to better acquaintances between psychiatrists and other medical personnel, and the enthusiasm with which many doctors and other personnel broke down the barriers and the general attitude that psychiatrists were somewhat different from other doctors."

Dr. Blain credits improved methods of treatment with being fundamentally the cause of the enormous public interest and demand for psychiatric care and that of a high quality, and the general acceptance of the fact that treatment closer to home is in most cases far more satisfactory. The original reasons for separation of mentally ill patients from the main stream of medicine apparently are disappearing and there is a satisfactory evolutionary change in the development of psychiatric services and their location.

Among the trends developing in American psychiatric treatment Dr. Blain cited:

"Adequate psychiatric treatment will be made available as early as possible, as continuously as possible, with as much social restoration as possible. The patient will be treated where most effective, on the job, at home or in the community, and when that is impossible he will retain his social ties with the community."

"Less hospitalization will be needed and more treatment time will be given in doctor's offices, clinics, day services and the like."

"Services for low income patients can be given as often as possible in institutions where some of the costs are high, because of increased government benefits and insurance."

WOODSTOCK NEWS

The Holiday Fair Returns to Guild

It's Holiday Fair time at the Woodstock Guild Shop, which means that Celeste, the Guild angel, has settled down on the porch roof of the lovely old building for her Christmas vigil, and that the rooms inside are bursting at the seams with the most unusual gifts around.

This is an annual event, and Guild members work harder than Santa's elves to provide beautiful objects of art and original household accessories of every sort for the benefit of your Christmas list. If you are one of those who think that the shopping is half the fun, the Guild Shop is for you! The rooms have been charmingly decorated with hand-crafted Yuletide decorations, which are all for sale, so you can transfer the glow and shine to your own fireside.

First to catch your eye may be the merriest of Christmas stockings of gay felt agglitter with trimmings; then Christmas wreaths, Christmas cards, and you're off on a delightful tour of the exhibits of fine hand made jewelry, ceramics, enamel, linens, knitwear, wood craft, children's toys, books by local writers and artists and, finally, in the large gallery room, you will find a collection of paintings and sculpture, all chosen with the Christmas budget in mind.

The Holiday Fair has been held for many years, traditionally from the day after Thanksgiving right up to Dec. 24. The shop is open from Monday through Saturday from 10 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. and you are cordially invited to drop often between now and Christmas for gifts which have the stamp of the artist and craftsman.

Health Program Planned Tonight

How much do you know about your school's health program? Too many people have a tendency to take this vital school service for granted. Do you know that your child spends approximately 185 days a year at school? As a parent, you should know what your school is doing to safeguard your child's health.

The Bennett P-TA cordially invites you to attend a special School Health Program tonight at 7:30 o'clock. A most informative and interesting program, complete with slides, has been prepared by Mrs. Broughton, the school nurse. You are encouraged to take advantage of this excellent opportunity to become familiar with your school health program.

All Bennett parents are invited to join the P-TA. Membership is only $1 per family and your support is needed to make this 1966-67 year a successful one.

Vote on Switch At Sketch Class

The Woodstock Artists Association's sketch class is being held on Thursdays this season, because most of the interested artists preferred that day to the traditional Monday meetings. Now a movement has generated to switch back.

The class has been highly successful so far, with a wide variety of models and poses, and people who are unable to attend on Thursdays have raised their voices in an appeal to return to the old schedule.

A vote will therefore be taken at this week's meeting to determine the course of the class for the rest of the winter. It is important for those with a preference for Thursdays to attend. The Monday-only people will be allowed to vote in absentia by writing to Ethel Norton Howe, 129 Tinker Street, Woodstock.

Those who attend regularly will be glad to hear that the temperamental thermostat has been brought under control, and is now behaving properly.

Christmas Work Due Saturday

The doors of the Gallery-on-the-Green here will open this Saturday from 4 to 6 p. m. so that the more than 200 active members of the Woodstock Artists Association may enter their work for the coming Christmas Show.

Each artist, some of whom will be traveling a good distance to attend, may submit three works, with a size limit of 30 inches, and a price limit of $150. In order to help keep prices down, so that more people will be able to afford to buy, the gallery is reducing its commission for the show.

It is expected that the turnout will be large, and the useable wall space in the gallery has been increased to allow everyone room.

Exhibitors at the recent UCCC show, whose work is being stored in the gallery, should try to pick up their paintings early in the evening.

Rains Return to Italy

ROME (AP)—After one day of sunshine, rain returned today to flood-stricken Italy.

Milan had its first snow of the year, for four hours. Snow was general in the Dolomites and the northern third of the Appennine chain. In the plains and south from mud-mired Florence to Sicily it rained.

The Italian Riviera and the Tyrrhenian coast were battered by a heavy storm.

Rainwater caused Florence's saturated sewers to overflow, pouring more mud onto the streets. Heavy rains also fell over the delta of the Po River, still flooded by the salt waters of the Adriatic.

Ontora Board Votes Tax Help

Senior citizens locally meeting the requirements of a new tax law can look forward to some relief in school taxes in 1967 as a result of unanimous Ontora Board action at a regular meeting in Woodstock last week. As required by the law a public hearing was held earlier during which support of the law was urged by a number of organizations and individuals.

Board members in the Ontora district have been interested in relief for elderly taxpayers with low incomes for many years. In 1959, a study was made to determine community feelings for such a program. Over 90 per cent of the more than 2,000 replies indicated a desire to provide relief to these senior citizens. The lack of state legislation at that time prohibited further progress. Each year since then the Board has endorsed proposed state legislation but each year the legislation was defeated. The Ontora Board also proposed resolutions to the New York State School Board Association to press for legislative support.

The new law permitted the Board of Education to pass a resolution granting a 50 per cent tax exemption on real property owned by persons 65 years of age or over who meet certain legal qualifications. A copy of the resolution will be sent to the assessors in each township for their use in preparing the assessment rolls. The owner or owners of property who qualify for exemption must send an application to the town assessors at least 90 days before the date for filing the final assessment roll. The final assessment rolls in the Ontora district are filed on Aug. 1 each year which means applications for exemption must be received by the assessor prior to May 3 each year.

Application forms and more detailed information will be provided by town assessors. Applications for exemption must be filed with the town assessors each year 90 days before the date for filing the final assessment roll. The exemption does not apply to special assessments such as sur-taxes.

Refuse to Declare New Injunction

NEW YORK (AP)—A three judge federal court, noting that the merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central Railroads has already been stayed until January, refused to declare a new injunction against the consolidation.

Oscar Gruss and Sons, New York investment bankers, had sought to hold up the merger or require simultaneous inclusions of the bankrupt New Haven line. An appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court on the merger is scheduled for a hearing Jan. 9.

Sharp Division Predicted Over Tax Increases

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. William Proxmire predicted today a sharp division in the new Congress over the issue of possible tax increases.

Proxmire said in an interview the Senate - House Economic Committee he is in line to head in the 1967 session may furnish a prime example of disagreement over taxes when it begins its annual review of President Johnson's fiscal proposals.

The Wisconsin Democrat noted that he has opposed any tax increase while Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., top Republican on the group, has been plugging for a boost in the income levy for several months.

"I am sure there will be a sharp division of opinion over whether any tax increase is necessary," Proxmire said. GOP Gov. Clifford P. Hansen of Wyoming, checking in for his new role as a senator, told a news conference Monday he thinks Congress ought to take a hard look at possible budget economies before it considers any tax increase.

He said he believes there are opportunities for spending reductions in domestic programs and in foreign aid. He said the antipoverty program, for example, is spending too much on personnel salaries and too little on aiding the indigent.

Michigan Students

Call for Sit-in

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Student leaders called for a mass sit-in today at the University of Michigan as a "show of strength" in their demands for a role in decisions now made by university officials.

Harlan H. Hatcher, president of the University of Michigan, one of the largest universities in the nation with 33,000 students, moved to head off growing antagonism by students. He postponed a controversial ban against sit-ins and ordered re-examination of the ban by a committee of students, faculty and administration. He said he is establishing a similar commission to study the question of "student participation in university decision-making."

Leaders of three student groups posted notice of an all-campus rally at noon today. They said they would ask students at the rally to march on the administration building and sit down in the halls to enforce their demands.

Boy, 5, Found Dead

PITTSFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Denny Tibbets, 5, was found dead Monday between stacks of lumber at a millwork plant four hours after he was reported missing from home.

The body was found by the boy's father, Terry M. Tibbets, and another searcher.

Following an autopsy, police said there was no evidence of foul play. They said the boy may have been struck by falling lumber while playing in the area.

Select Jury in Speck Competency Hearing

CHICAGO (AP)—A jury of seven men and five women was selected Monday to determine whether Richard F. Speck is competent to stand trial on charges of murdering eight student nurses.

Judge Herbert C. Paschen of the Circuit Court recessed the hearing until today when a panel of psychiatrists who have examined Speck was to begin testimony.

Judge Paschen explained to 50 prospective jurors that their sole task would be to determine whether the defendant understands the nature of the proceedings and is able to assist in his own defense.

Birth Control Information Is Back to Board

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The sensitive subject of the dissemination of birth-control information is back in the hands of the State Social Welfare Board, which previously wrestled with the issue for more than two years.

A spokesman for the board revealed Monday that the group had agreed to consider at its meeting in New York City next month whether to erase the ban against welfare workers volunteering birth-control information to welfare recipients.

New York City Welfare Commissioner Mitchell E. Ginsberg has requested such action. Under terms of a board rule-ing handed down in 1965—after more than two years of sometimes bitter debate—such information can be given to welfare recipients only if it is requested. Welfare workers may not volunteer such information.

The issue—delicate because of religious, racial and ethnic pressures—returned to the spotlight Monday when New York City Mayor John V. Lindsay said he was confident Gov. Rockefeller would join him in an effort to remove the information bar.

Rockefeller, however, quickly rejected his fellow Republican's suggestion that he would personally intervene by issuing a statement issued through an aide that said:

"Any decisions on this subject are the sole responsibility of the Board of Social Welfare. This is not a matter over which the governor has any jurisdiction."

Rockefeller can make recommendations, however.

Local Organist Gives Recital; Reviewed by Paper

Gordon T. Bush, who is Minister of Music at Old Dutch Church in Kingston, recently gave an organ recital in Cooperstown, N. Y. at the Christ Episcopal Church. Mr. Bush is a native of Detroit, Mich., and studied at Westminster Choir College in Princeton, N. J., and Guilford Organ School with Dr. Alexander McCurdy and Dr. George Markey.

The recital was reviewed by the Oneonta Star. It reads as follows:

"From the beginning number which was the 'allegro' movement of the Vivaldi Concerto, he showed a mastery of the instrument which continued through Bach's Great A Minor Prelude and Fugue and the two settings of 'He Who Will Suffer God to Guide Him.' His registrations for the latter two were well-chosen as well as contrasting.

"Technical perfection predominated throughout the difficult recital which the young man chose for himself. He shifted from manual to manual with the utmost dexterity, as shown in Messiaen's 'God Among Us.' He seemed to be thoroughly enjoying himself in this particular piece.

"After a short intermission, William's 'Introduction, Passacaglia and Fugue' was performed in the masculine fashion demanded by this number. There was a good deal of mounting suspense in the recurring figure of the Passacaglia culminating in the intricate fugue.

"The Vienne 'Cantabile' was exceedingly beautiful, which made one realize the depth of emotional feeling in one so young in years.

"The enthusiasm throughout the Vienne 'Finale' and showed to what length a good performer can go on a good instrument." (Nellie Snell, F.A.G.O.)

Doing The Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST

MAY TIRED GUEST MAKE MOVE TO ADJOURN?

Dear Mrs. Post: Frequently we are the house guests of friends or relatives. After a tiresome day of traveling and an equally exhausting evening of conversation, it is quite awkward to let it be known we are ready for slumber. Is it proper for the guests to suggest it is time to retire for the night?

Mrs. R.D.: Ordinarily it is the hostess who makes the move toward going to bed, but there is absolutely no reason a tired guest can't say, "Mary, we've had a long day and we're dead, we'll enjoy the golf (or whatever) much more tomorrow if we get some sleep, so would you forgive us if we leave you now?" Although guests should try to accommodate themselves to their hostess's plans, she's trying above all to give them a good time, and it's no fun for any one to try to set up and talk when he literally can't keep his eyes open.

Inscriptions in Gift Books

Dear Mrs. Post: When presenting a book as a gift, is it permissible for the giver to write a date, name, comment on the fly-leaf? Also, should the printed price on the cover flap be scratched out or left unmarked? Cathy.

Dear Cathy: I see nothing wrong with a message written on the fly-leaf of a book. In fact, I enjoy receiving books inscribed with a personal note as a reminder of who gave them to me. Not a long note — just a "with much love" or "congratulations on your birthday" and a signature and date — makes a happy memento. The printed price is almost always in the extreme upper right hand corner of the cover flap and the best method is to cut it neatly off, diagonally.

More Signature Tips

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I separated a couple of weeks ago. With the holidays coming soon I would like to know how to sign my Christmas cards. I know we will receive many cards from friends and relatives and I'm sure my husband will not send any, and I feel it is up to me, Joan.

Dear Joan: Since you and your husband are separated, you cannot sign for both of you. Therefore, sign your cards just as you would a letter — "Joan Smith", or to very close friends, simply "Joan."

Fund Drive for Amphitheatre Is Planned; Will Be Site of Van Winkle Production

The Washington Irving Amphitheatre Corporation today announced the appointment of Franklin Berry and Clarence Moon as co-chairmen of the campaign to raise $150,000 to $200,000 to finance the construction of an outdoor amphitheatre in the Catskills, home of the legendary Rip Van Winkle. Both men are long-time residents of Greene County.

The Washington Irving Amphitheatre has long been a dream of many of the residents of this vicinity, and it is hoped this capital funds drive will enable this newly-formed corporation to convert this dream into a reality.

An intensive study has been made to determine the feasibility of sponsoring this project. Many of the successful outdoor type theatres all over the country were studied to determine the acceptance of the cultural aspects of such a venture and the economics of the project was weighted in terms of what community good would inure to the Catskill area.

Said co-chairman Frank Berry, "Since the Catskills are held in awe and reverence by millions of tourists, and since nature has been lavish in her blessings to the area, it has been determined that even nature in all her glory does not entirely whet the appetite of the summer city dweller who must be provided with after-hours entertainment. What then could be more entertaining than a beloved legend, close to the hearts of all school children and their grown-ups, resurrected from the past and given the advantages of the 20th Century touch of modern theatre with no loss of original story."

"The story of 'Rip Van Winkle' held by many to be one of Washington Irving's greatest essays, lends itself to whole family entertainment, and has been given a magnificent musical treatment by Fred Spielman and Kermit Goell, and is contemplated to enjoy an unprecedented run for many years to come. It is perhaps one of the finest works of top Broadway producers. And, like the Catskills, only the best of Broadway talent could be enlisted to stand beside the fame of the region."

"However, the proof of the pudding must be reserved until an amphitheatre can be erected to house such an ambitious production."

The site of the projected Washington Irving Amphitheatre is in the middle of Rip's backyard.

Clarence Moon stated, "An amphitheatre, to seat around 3,000 people costs money, and that's the purpose of this fund-raising drive, for without the amphitheatre, millions of Americans, and others, may be deprived of knowing the legendary saint and the early times of the section during the Revolution and at the beginning of these Great United States."

Teams of leading business, professional and resort people will be organized to effectively contact all residents of the area to give them a once in a lifetime opportunity to join hands with their neighbors in promoting this worthwhile project," Moon said.

The initial phase of this campaign will narrate the background of the drive and seek to enlist substantial citizen's personal and financial assistance. A factual brochure will be distributed outlining the fund-raising program and a series of area meetings will be held to put the program in motion.

A December deadline has been established to determine the interest of all leading business people, and shortly after the first of the year, if the response is as expected, a general campaign will be launched in the entire Catskill region.

Capote's Masked Ball Draws Glittering Attendance; White House Represented

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — It was hard to decide who was belle of Truman Capote's much-touted masked ball Monday night. — Lynda Bird Johnson, Kay Graham or agile Alice Roosevelt Longworth — but there was no doubt that he was the host with the most, the idol of the "in" crowd.

The President's glamorous elder daughter — a working girl — danced until 2 a.m. with several partners.

The honored guest, publisher Kay Graham, sat out few of the dances.

Mrs. Longworth, daughter of President Theodore Roosevelt, sat out the dance tunes by Peter Duchin and the Soul Brothers. Nevertheless, she was surrounded until the wee hours by various personalities.

At one time, at the same red-clothed table, sat three members of White House families — Lynda Bird chatting animatedly with Mrs. Longworth while Margaret Truman Daniel listened.

For endurance on the dance floor the prizes went to Lauren Bacall and bearded Jerome Robbins, who danced until they were wet with perspiration.

Mia Sinatra danced the last ones with Roddy McDowell while her husband Frank chatted with Pat Lawford and Eunice Shriver, sisters of the late President John F. Kennedy. The late president's mother, Mrs. Joseph Kennedy, arrived early in the evening while Lee Radziwill, Mrs. John F. Kennedy's sister, was a glittering latecomer in a silver beaded dress.

Celebrities were plentiful at this imaginative party given in the grand ballroom of the Plaza Hotel at 59th Street and Fifth Avenue.

Throaty Tallulah Bankhead was "darling-ing" everybody.

At the next table, a contingent of nine from Garden City, Kan., watched the doings of the "beautiful people." The watchers included Alvin Dewey and his wife. He was an investigator for the Kansas Bureau of Investigation, and a principal figure in Capote's book, "In Cold Blood."

Capote set the fashion tone by insisting that his female guests wear black or white. Most wore combinations of the two.

The ladies and some of the gentlemen outdid themselves with imaginative and sometimes fantastically expensive masks.

Most ladies' masks were sprays of feathers twinkling with gems. John Gunther, author of those "Inside" books, kept his face inside a book-like box.

For Capote, he wore a 35-cent mask from a Manhattan toy store.

Uruguay Reforms

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — President-elect Oscar Daniel Gestido will have broad executive powers to govern Uruguay for the next five years approved by the voters in Sunday's election.

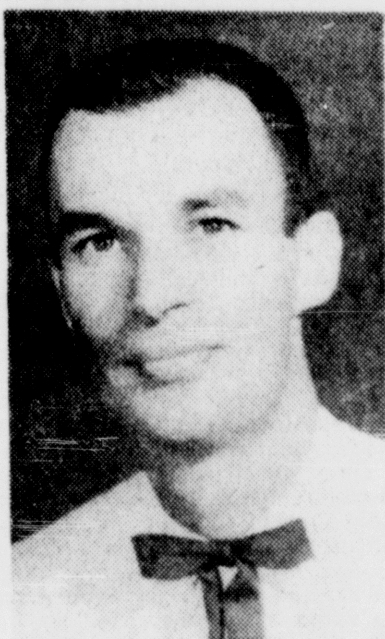

The reforms replaced the nine-man governing council system, which had been in effect 15 years, with a single chief executive in the hope that the presidential system would prove more efficient and instill new life in the nation's sagging economy.

URBAN RENEWAL

The Other Side of the Story

An Open Letter to the People of the City of Kingston and Our Friends and Customers:

We are writing this open letter to advise you of the steps which are being taken to deprive us of our property rights and our business which we have operated for 30 years.

This lumber business was established by the late Walter S. Darling in 1914—before the days of the infamous Viaduct—and has been operated continuously since that time as a lumber yard. Now it has been decreed by the "Powers That Be" that we must be eliminated for the benefit of someone else—some favored developer. Urban Renewal exerts its power thru what has been called the "Most flagrant abuse of the right of eminent domain in the history of this country." The original intent of "Eminent Domain" was for the confiscation of private property for PUBLIC USE. Urban Renewal subverts the law to the confiscation of private property for PRIVATE USE.

Even now we have suffered at the hands of Urban Renewal because of the blight which has covered the neighborhood which is under Urban Renewal consideration. We have had inquiries and offers for our property for use other than as a lumber yard as well as for an enlarged lumber yard at a very fine price until the investigation shows that it is under Urban Renewal blight and then they withdraw the offer as they have said that they will not knowingly stick their necks in the Urban Renewal Noose, which condition may go on for years without final determination. On second thought, why should the Urban Renewal personnel hurry so long as the salaries go on and on and they can keep eating out of the public treasury as some of them have been doing for years. It is a case of the more time, the more money. We have learned of one outfit who has received $129,000.00 so far for maps and models, with more to come, as well as the thousands of dollars which have been paid and will continue to be paid in salaries.

Is it right or just to penalize the little people and prevent them from realizing the full potential of their property THEMSELVES instead of the benefits accruing to the "favored developer"?

Is it right or fair to take one's home at a condemnation price which will be only a fraction of what the property owner will have to pay elsewhere for new or equal housing? Some are elderly and are now forced to give up a home which they own outright, free and clear and which suffices for their needs, for a partial equity in something which will put them in debt for the rest of their lives—if, indeed, they are able to secure financing because of their limited capital and earning ability. The elderly are having troubles enough with the present cost of living and inflation of prices without being forced out of their home at still further expense which they will be unable to manage.

The end result of some of these plans is easy to see—either another WEED CITY after demolition and destruction with no construction—no developers or the "favored developer" getting the property at a fraction of its value and then he is in a position to resell to the parties who would have bought from the present owners in the first place if it were not for the blight and endless uncertainty of Urban Renewal with all of its ramifications.

Is this the United States of America—the Land of the Free in the year 1966? Or is it State Socialism? Or is it Communism?

Now as to the Public Housing which is being proposed for some of the cleared land, is this cheap economical Public Housing where an apartment in this multiple type garden apartment with an inexpensive type of construction costs approximately $20,000.00 per apartment? Just check the figures, and check what kind of individual housing with everything self-contained and on a private lot can be secured for $20,000.00.

As it refers to us personally, we are being forced out. We cannot stay—not even as we have been told if we "brick veneer and gold plate our buildings." Someone else wants our place and even though we have had direct offers they have been rescinded because of Urban Renewal activities. After 30 years building up a business and being identified with a particular location, WE ARE BEING FORCED OUT OF BUSINESS AND OFF OF OUR PROPERTY. For us, it will be interesting to find out in the end just who the "lucky" person or persons will be who will end up with this location. We may be able then to add up two and two and find out what the answer is.

If you agree with us that the above activities and machinations are not what you want, call your Alderman, call your Mayor, call the Urban Renewal Director, call the Chairman and Members of the Mayor's Urban Renewal Committee and tell them that you believe in a "fair deal" for all and not in the confiscation and taking from the unfortunate property owners who are defenseless to protect themselves from this heartless, ruthless bureaucracy.

Mark this well that as we are losing our property rights and as they are being usurped by governmental edicts, that personal rights and liberties could well be next, and remember when ONE MAN IS NOT FREE, NO MAN IS FREE.

The next time it may be YOU

Housing Industry Now in Recession, Will Get Help

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is giving the sagging home building industry a $250-million emergency transfusion. Some builders hail it as a step in the right direction. Others say it is too little, too late.

President Johnson ordered the release Monday of one-fourth of the $1 billion in special federal mortgage funds authorized by the last Congress. The government said the action would permit construction of 15,000 new homes.

Due largely to a shortage of mortgage funds, the housing industry is mired in its deepest recession in two decades. Total housing starts in October dropped to 83,100 units — the lowest since World War II and more than 50,000 under October 1965.

The $250 million will be used to buy mortgages insured by the Federal Housing Administration and the Veterans Administration on new homes costing a maximum of $15,000, or $17,500 in "high cost areas" and $22,500 in Hawaii, Alaska and Guam.

Release of the federal mortgage funds coincided with these other developments related to the nation's economy: — Officials in Washington said no decision has been made on whether the President will ask Congress next year to raise taxes. "It's still a 50-50 chance," one said. A day earlier, Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., said he expects Johnson to seek a tax increase of between $10 billion and $15 billion.

— Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., predicted a sharp division in the new Congress over the issue of possible tax increases. Proxmire is in line to become chairman of the Senate-House Economic Committee in the 1967 session.

— House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford said the GOP will keep plugging for a sharing of federal revenues with the states even if federal spending is cut and taxes raised.

— Dr. Leon H. Keyserling, who was economic adviser to former President Harry S. Truman, said in a Denver, Colo., speech that "holding back the economy" by restraining inflation, rather than stimulating the economy, seems palpably wrong to me.

Commission on the Constitution, a unit headed by Rockefeller before his 1958 election as governor.

Often Criticized — Rockefeller installed himself as secretary upon taking office in 1959. Over the next several years, Ronan often was criticized by Republican state legislators and other GOP politicians for taking what they regarded as a non-political approach to state government affairs.

By contrast, Marshall appears to have won warm acceptance in the same circles during his brief service as "shadow secretary" to the governor's staff.

Marshall, a graduate of Hillsdale (Mich.) College, entered state service as a public administration intern, after receiving a degree as master of science in public administration from Syracuse University.

He became secretary to the Public Service Commission in 1953 and moved to the State Budget Division as deputy director in 1961. He is married and the father of four sons.

Voting Underway

the Glasco School and an additional $19,000 for the purchase of needed land at the Glasco site, passes today.

Residents of the district began casting their ballots for or against the expansion plans at 12 noon today. A large vote is expected before polls close at 9 o'clock tonight at the Main Street School auditorium.

In asking voters to approve the bond issue, the Board noted there has been a need for additional classrooms since September and that school enrollments have been increasing at the rate of between 100 to 200 pupils annually in the district for a number of years.

Larchmont Boy Killed

LARCHMONT, N.Y. (AP) — Kenny Stutz, 6, was killed by a car as he walked to school this morning. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Stutz.

The accident occurred two doors from the family home at 103 Palmer Ave.

Slag Pile Explosion

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — An explosion in an industrial slag pile sent meteor-like fire balls of molten metal flying on to a nearby factory roof and into a crowded parking lot today.

Two employees suffered minor burns. The blast at the Pittsburgh Metallurgical Co. apparently was touched off when molten metal was dumped on a rain-soaked slag pile, a company official said.

Summon Sam, Four to Testify For Special Jury

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Five persons, including Samuel H. Sheppard, have been ordered to testify before the Cuyahoga County grand jury Friday in the unsolved murder of Sheppard's first wife, Marilyn, 12 years ago.

Refers to Statements — County Prosecutor John T. Corrigan, who directed the prosecution in a murder retrial in which Sheppard was acquitted 13 days ago, was asked the purpose of the special grand jury investigation.

"Sheppard has been making statements and his lawyer has been making statements. That is all I will say about it at this time," Corrigan said. Sheppard's attorney, F. Lee Bailey of Boston, said Monday that he would be in Cleveland for the grand jury session. He had hinted during the retrial that Marilyn was killed by someone familiar with the Sheppard home.

Not Sufficient Reasons — Last week, he told a City Club audience that he had written a 15-page letter to Bay Village Police Chief Fred Drenkhan, indicating who killed Marilyn Sheppard and what the motive was. Bailey demanded that the investigation be reopened.

Drenkhan said Bailey's "suppositions and conclusions" were not sufficient to reopen a police investigation of the murder case.

Says Battle . . .

he thinks the bulk of the Communist force now is hiding out northeast of Zone C along the Cambodian border. He estimated that the tough 6,000-man 9th Division took about 20 per cent casualties.

"But the impact was much more than that," he said. "The casualties came out of its fighting edge."

Wevand was careful not to contend the 9th Division has been crippled. Some other Army generals were making such a claim halfway through Operation Attleboro. Then, the 9th launched strong local attacks Nov. 3.

In Wevand's view, the swift concentration of U.S. fighting power probably thwarted the opening of an extensive autumn offensive, possibly aimed at thrusting down into Hau Nghia Province to the west of Saigon.

"We completely fouled that up," the general said. Now that Attleboro is history, the major American units which were drawn into the battle have returned to the jobs they were doing when the call came.

Some are seeking out provincial and local Viet Cong units and turning to pacification around Saigon.

Hi-Jack Half Million In Electric Shavers

NEW YORK (AP) — The FBI announced the arrest Monday night of a Westbury man in the hi-jacking of a half million dollars worth of electric shavers last week.

According to the FBI, Seymour Liechten, 43, was arrested and charged with the theft of a tractor trailer containing 2,093 cartons of electric shavers. Most were recovered.

Liechten, the FBI said, is the president of the Admiral Automobile Supply Co., at 35-35 Steinway St., Astoria, Queens. Liechten lives at 22 Wedgewood Drive.

Reds Fire on Koreans

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Four North Korean gunboats fired on a group of South Korean fishing boats on the east coast, south of the military demarcation line today and abducted South Korean fishermen, Seoul's radio Donga reported.

The broadcast said the Communist navy craft surrounded about 30 South Korean fishing boats and fired an unknown number of shells. It said the incident took place about 1 p.m.

REV. MICHAEL GILLEESE

Freedom and Law To Be Topic on Thursday Night

Freedom and the Law will be the topic of the Rev. Michael Gilleese, guidance director of Our Lady of Lourdes High School, Poughkeepsie, when he speaks Thursday 8 p.m. at St. Joseph's School, this city.

This is the final of a series of three sessions sponsored by the Ulster County Fraternity of Christian Doctrine on the relationship of love and law in modern moral thinking. Father Gilleese will approach the subject in the light of recent psychological, sociological and theological advances.

Studied in Rome

Father Gilleese attended the North American College in Rome, Italy, for six years and received his Doctorate in Theology from the Gregorian University in that city. He received an MA in guidance and counseling from New York University and is presently studying for a doctorate in clinical psychology.

He taught two years at Cardinal Hayes High School in the Bronx and served as an Army chaplain during the Berlin crisis and thereafter in the National Guard for five years. In addition to his guidance work at Lourdes High School, Father Gilleese is director of the religion department. He also is an instructor of theology at Marist College, Poughkeepsie and Mount Saint Mary's College in Newburgh.

These talks are open to adults of all faiths without charge. As at previous talks the speaker will answer questions from the floor. This feature has been a most interesting part of the series.

Hussein Says . . .

world will realize what is at stake here today," the king said. "The tensions built up by the events of the last two weeks have created the most explosive situation since the Suez crisis of 1956, and the results could be even more devastating to the free world."

He said Jordan was threatened on three fronts — by Israel, by the threats and propaganda attacks of some of its Arab neighbors, and by Communist and pro-Communist subversion within its borders.

Hussein said he had grounds to fear that the Samua attack "was not an isolated incident but was the beginning of something that could lead to a general war."

"We are determined," Hussein said, "to fight with every ounce of strength we have if the battle is forced on us. It is obviously our fight. But the outside pressures being exerted in this area are of vital interest to the free world."

Need Arms, Moral Support

"My country has become a symbol of freedom and stability and this obviously disturbs many people. We are doing everything possible to build up our defenses to deter attack or to meet it if necessary."

"We need more arms, we need the moral support of the free world and we need all the help our friends in the Arab world can give us."

He said his security forces were taking every measure to stamp out subversion in Jordan and to prevent the possibility of a campaign of terror getting started here.

Asked whether he had any fear of assassination, his grandfather King Abdullah was murdered before young Hussein's eyes in 1951 — the king said: "I never think of it. I only think of doing the best I can for my people and of unshodding the ideals in which I believe and which are shared by free people everywhere."

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market took a small loss in moderate trading early this afternoon.

Trading was active at the start but soon slowed. A clear cut price trend may be lacking for a time, and with the averages posed just below resistance areas, progress is likely to be labored, according to brokers.

Most changes of key issues ranged from fractions to a point with a few wider moves being made.

Steels, motors, electronics, chemicals, rails and tobacco were mostly lower.

The building materials, apparently encouraged by announced federal assistance for home building, advanced. U.S. Gypsum was up about a point and Johns Manville added about a half point.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon was down .6 at 293.3 with industrials off 1.1, rails off .2 and utilities off .3.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was off 3.56 at 797.60.

The averages were hurt by a 2-point drop by Du Pont.

Advances and declines were almost even.

Names in The News

Still No Granddaughter

NEW YORK (AP) — There were 48 consecutive males in the Pitofsky line until Monday. Then along came Nicholas—No. 49—and a $5,000 bond still goes unclaimed. The story is 135 years old now.

Nicholas' grandfather, Louis, 73, of New York City, is offering the bond to his first granddaughter.

Pitofsky has 10 grandsons but a girl has not been born into the family in six generations. Pitofsky was one of two sons, his grandfather one of five and his great grandfather, an only son.

Bishop Pike's Address

NEW YORK (AP) — The Right Rev. James A. Pike, retired Episcopal Bishop of California, has made his first speaking engagement since last month when the House of Bishops censured him for what it termed the irresponsible nature of some of his remarks.

The 53-year-old bishop called on his fellow clergymen to acknowledge that there are "lots of questions about religion where no absolute answers are possible."

"Only God knows everything," he said Monday in the first of four Advent addresses he will give at New York's St. Thomas church. "Keeping quiet at some points is a question of knowing our places before God."

Weds Soldier

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Patricia Emery Udall, former wife of Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., has married a 21-year-old soldier at Ft. Bliss, Tex.

Christopher Louis Schweitzer, the bridegroom, is a former University of Arizona student.

The former Mrs. Udall, about 40, divorced the congressman last Jan. 10.

Schweitzer is the son of John Schweitzer of Stillwater, Okla., and the late Mrs. Schweitzer, an artist who died several years ago.

Moore Wants Freedom

NEW YORK (AP) — Gary Moore says he will ask the Columbia Broadcasting System to release him from a personal contract that still has eight years to run.

Moore's television show will be dropped Jan. 8 by CBS. His contract guarantees him $100,000 a year, even if he doesn't work.

Moore said Monday that he would like to be free to do programs for other networks. He has been with CBS for 16 years.

$15,400 for Arm Break

LONDON (AP) — Ballet dancer Louis Conrad, 37, was awarded damages of $15,400 Monday for breaking an arm in his first judo lesson.

The court was told Conrad's right arm was fractured while practicing an ogoshi—a major hip throw in the James Bond tradition. The break did not heal for nearly two years.

Damages were awarded against the Inner London Education Authority, sponsors of the judo classes, for failing to take proper care of learners.

Rocky Declines To Rule Out Tax Hike Possibility

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller declared today that he would do "everything in my power" to avoid a state tax increase next year.

The governor declined, however, to rule out the possibility that a tax boost might be required to finance growing state expenditures, such as in the area of education.

"I'll cut everywhere I can and anywhere without prejudicing services to the people," he said in response to questions at a news conference.

But, when asked whether he was optimistic that he would be able to hold the tax line, he declined to express an opinion, saying, "just stick on my statement that I will do everything to avoid a tax increase."

Governor Orders

locally. Such a request was made in letters to District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca, of Ulster County, and New York Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz by Harry M. Thayer, manager of a local radio station. As of today, the District Attorney has made no move to begin an investigation before the Grand Jury.

Meanwhile, Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick (D-Elizenville), who brought the Luni case to public attention almost a month ago, charged today that Ulster County Leaders are "exhibiting indifference and apathy" in the matter. Among those upon whom he placed responsibility for what he called "senseless and cruel action" were County Welfare Commissioner Joseph Fitzsimmons, County Attorneys Abram Molyneux and Richard Griggs and "every single member of the Ulster County Board of Supervisors."

He said the 33-member board was "also to blame for permitting high county officials to continue the unmerciful lawsuit" that would take the youngster away from the Luni family.

Questions Silence — He noted that with all the national hue and cry, local leaders in all walks of life have been "strangely silent" in voicing any support of the Luni's. Returning to the Board of Supervisors, Resnick charged it has "evaded its responsibility by refusing to discuss the Luni case in recent meetings."

He called it "the Board's 'privilege and duty' to the county officials to continue the unmerciful lawsuit" that would take the youngster away from the Luni family.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING...

Chain Offers Income But Appreciation Slow

Q) "I have $1,000 to invest and have a leaning toward Acme Markets, as I worked for them years ago. This stock has dropped sharply in price and I would like to know what you advise." A. T.

A) You worked for an excellent company. Acme is a major food chain which has come down in price like most others in its group. These stocks have been hurt by intensive competition in the industry—followed by a general falling off in investment favor. Acme Markets should report good earnings recovery in the current year, probably to $4.65 a share. Dividends are well protected and now yield are per cent. Some expansion of sales is likely through the Alpha Beta division in Southern California.

If income is your principal objective, this stock should be satisfactory. If you are looking for appreciation, however, I would avoid Acme. Instead, I would buy a pharmaceutical like Merck or a consumer stock like General Foods.

Q) "I own a very large amount of Brunswick Corp. debenture 4½s of 1981, which have dropped 20 points since I bought them in February. Any information on debentures and Brunswick in particular will be appreciated." A. H.

A) Debentures represent simply the unsecured promise of a corporation to pay interest and principal when due. Their security depends entirely on the financial strength of the borrower and on the fact that default in payments is usually followed by bankruptcy proceedings.

The debentures you own are subordinated to Brunswick's senior debt. Because of the sharp decline in the company's earnings in recent years, your bonds are considered speculative and generally unsuitable for investors who cannot afford risk. Brunswick's management is excellent and it has made progress in reducing indebtedness. Earning power must be re-established, however, before your debentures can be regarded as wholly secure. Although I don't anticipate default, I believe it would be prudent to reduce your commitment substantially.

to Michigan Technological University at Houghton after the Thanksgiving holiday.

Another 200 were sheltered at Escanaba where six inches of snow was reported, and 100 spent the night in a National Guard armory at Manistique.

Main arteries from Marquette eastward and southward were not expected to be cleared before this afternoon. Michigan state police said.

Blustery weather hit areas across the lower Great Lakes region and into the eastern states. Cold air dipped into parts of the Southland.

Up to 3 inches of snow fell in sections of northern Ohio and western New York State in a six-hour period during the night. Five inches of snow earlier had been reported in McKean County in northwestern Pennsylvania.

Dixie Gets Blanket — Seven inches of snow covered the Great Smoky Mountains of Tennessee, with 4 inches reported at Newfound Gap on the Tennessee-North Carolina line. The mercury dropped to the 20s.

Early morning temperatures were in the 40s and lower from the Gulf region to central Florida. Southerly winds brought mild conditions to New England, with readings higher in some areas in the far northeast states than in northern Florida.

A fresh surge of cold air moved across the northern Rockies and a cold wave warning was in effect for Montana eastward to the Continental Divide.

Middletown High Dominates All-DUSO Football Team

JACK BALTZ

Bertholf Named 'Player of Year'; Pick Boggs, Baltz

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Middletown's DUSO winning champions, dominate the league's annual All-Star football team, as selected Monday at Karsten's Inn, Port Jervis by members of the DUSO Sports-writers and Broadcasters Assn.

The Middies placed four performers on the 12-man offensive platoon and added eight to the 13-man defensive squad.

End Bruce Bertholf, who made both the offensive and defensive team, was selected as the league's "Player of the Year," an honor reserved for senior. John Brunner, who guided the Middies to their championship was a unanimous choice as "Coach of the Year."

Kingston, which had a 1-2 record in DUSO play, placed full-back Gerard Boggs on the offensive team and end Jack Baltz on the defensive squad.

There were two ties in the balloting. Four backs were selected behind quarterback Wayne Youngs on the first team. In addition to Boggs they are Ted Staples and Charles McCurry of Newburgh and Larry Weyant of Middletown.

A tie at guard resulted in three selections on the defensive squad at that position. They are Tony Gestesi, Middletown; Dave Foster, Port Jervis and John Hunter, Newburgh.

In addition to Bertholf, the 6-4, 250-pound bruising end, other players selected to both the offensive and defensive clubs include tackle Howard Broadhead, Middletown; guard John Hunter, Newburgh and back Charles McCurry, Newburgh.

The offensive team is dominated by seniors with the only juniors being Hunter, Foster and Youngs. On defense, tackle Jeff Harmon, Middletown; Hunter of Newburgh; and back John Peterson and Dick Field of Middletown are juniors. Linebacker Everett Pickett, Newburgh is a sophomore and the others are seniors.

Los Angeles Coliseum Seen As Site for Super Bowl Game

By JACK HAND
NEW YORK (AP)—The Los Angeles Coliseum and Sunday, Jan. 15 are the likely site and date of the Super Bowl football game between the champions of the National and American Football leagues.

If the Pro Bowl game, between all-star teams of the NFL's two conferences, can be shifted from Jan. 15 to Jan. 22, the two pro leagues are expected to move their first big game into the vast 110,000-seat Coliseum.

No decision has been made. The Coliseum, Miami's Orange Bowl, New Orleans' Sugar Bowl and Houston's Astrodome are being considered, according to NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

Expect Announcement

A joint committee from the two leagues, with Commissioner Rozelle as chairman, is making its recommendations to the two leagues at separate meetings. A definite announcement is expected before the two pro leagues end their meetings Wednesday or Thursday.

Of primary importance to the members of the NFL is a discussion of realignment. With New Orleans becoming the 16th team in 1967, the league will have 16 teams. They will be split into the same two Eastern and Western Conferences, with the West choosing between New Orleans and Atlanta as its eighth member. Baltimore would still remain in the West and St. Louis in the East.

Each conference will, in turn, be split into two four-club divisions. The make-up of those divisions is causing considerable discussion. Among the factors to be considered are weather, baseball park conflicts, traditional rivalries, geography, season ticket sale and business success and competitive aspects (strong or weak teams).

Although nine applications for the New Orleans franchise have been received, Rozelle said he doubted if the name of the new owner would be announced at these meetings. Before an owner is selected, a purchase price must be determined. No figure was announced when Atlanta was added earlier this year, but the figure of $8.5 million was published frequently.

Rozelle said there has been discussion of changing the date of the AFL game, now set for Monday, Dec. 26 in the home park of the Eastern winner.

"It probably would be better if both title games were played the same weekend," he said.

The NFL game is set for Sunday, Jan. 1 in the Eastern Conference winner's park.

Members of Kingston Post #150 Legion Baseball team, who lost in the finals of the State tournament in Cooperstown, will be honored Saturday at a testimonial dinner at the Legion Building, West O'Reilly Street. The event will get underway at 7:30.

Richard Connors, State Legion Baseball Chairman and Richard Dalton, Third District Chairman, will be speakers.

Perry Begins Second Season As Head Coach

Coach Mike Perry takes the wraps off his 1966-67 Ulster Community College basketball team tonight when the Senators host Albany Pharmacy in an 8 o'clock game at the Municipal Auditorium.

The Senators, who compiled an excellent 13-8 record in Perry's first year at the helm, have excellent shooting and speed but will be handicapped by a lack of height.

Captain Brad Meyer, the only returning starter, will lead the Senators against their upstate opponents. Perry has also tabbed Stan Henderson, Rod Chando and Tom Shaffer to start. The fifth starter will be selected from among Bill Boines, Bill Zilliox and Frank Roselli.

Good Reserve Strength

The Ulster coach said the team will have good bench strength and he plans to substitute Ron Lindsay and Jim Groff for Chando and Shaffer in the backcourt.

Albany Pharmacy is coached by Willard Rice. This marks his first year at the helm but he has been coaching for 25 years, including a successful tenure at St. Joseph's Academy in Albany.

The upstarters, who won the Northern Collegiate Conference title in 1964-65, have three returning lettermen. They are Dick Davidson, a 6-0 sharpshooter with a scoring average of 18 points a game; Fred Wendt, a 6-3 center and Dan Schur, a 5-11 guard.

Also in the starting lineup will be Bob Single a 6-0 guard and Bill Snyder, a 6-4 forward.

The Pharmacy team posted an 11-6 mark in 1965-66.

After tonight's opener, the Senators will be home on Friday against Fashion Institute of New York and next Tuesday against Orange Community College in a conference contest.

Stan Mikita Paces NHL in Scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — It helps to put the puck in the net if you want to be among the National Hockey League's top scorers, but it's not a prerequisite.

New York's Phil Goyette and Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffron prove that playmaking has its place. Figures released by the NHL today show both Rangers high up in the scoring race although they've managed only five goals between them.

Goyette is running second to Chicago's Stan Mikita, who leads the league with 11 goals and 17 assists for 28 points. Goyette has potted only two goals but his league-leading 18 assists give him 20 points.

Geoffron, making a comeback after a two-year layoff, shares sixth place with Boston's Wayne Connelly and two other Rangers — Don Marshall and Rod Gilbert. The Boomer, fifth highest goal scorer in NHL history with 374, has scored three times and assisted on 13 others for 16 points.

Over Spartans

Notre Dame Increases First Place Margin

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's Notre Dame by a more solid first-place margin over Michigan State while Alabama is a stronger third in The Associated Press' next-to-last major college football poll of the 1966 season.

The Fighting Irish moved in front by 34 points this week after finishing their season with a smashing 51-0 conquest of Rose Bowl-bound Southern California.

Notre Dame led the second-ranked Spartans by only three points a week ago after the teams battled to a 10-10 tie in Michigan State's final game. The No. 1 and No. 2 teams each finished with a 9-0 record.

Alabama, the defending national champion and the only major team with an unbeaten record, trails Notre Dame by 78 points and Michigan State by 44. A week ago, the Crimson Tide was 89 points behind the Irish and 86 behind the Spartans.

The Tide rolled over Southern Mississippi 34-0 for their ninth victory last Saturday. The final poll will be taken next week after Alabama completes its regular season by playing Auburn at Birmingham, Ala., this Saturday.

In the latest balloting by a national panel of 52 sports writers and broadcasters, Notre Dame collected 505 points while Michigan State had 471 and Alabama 427.

The Irish were given sole possession of first place by 35 voters while five others put them in a tie for the top spot with Michigan State. The Spartans were given undisputed top ranking by only five voters.

Each team received 10 points

Ortiz KOs Elorde in 14th Round

By MURRAY ROSE

NEW YORK (AP) — Another lightweight title fight and then champion Carlos Ortiz, knock-out conqueror of Filipino Flash Elorde, may move up against welterweight king Curtis Cokes.

Ortiz and his manager Bill Daly, who had a second's license for the Monday night bout at Madison Square Garden, mentioned Sugar Ramos of Mexico City and Carlos Cruz, the contender from the Dominican Republic, as the possible lightweight opponents.

Ortiz flattened the game, wary Elorde with a smashing left hook to the chin at 2:01 of the 14th round, ending a fight that was as one-sided as a duel between a machine-gunner and a guy with a water pistol.

Elorde, as flat as a day-old glass of ginger ale, never could get going against the smart, crisp-hitting Puerto Rican-born New Yorker.

Judge Joe Armstrong gave all 13 rounds to Ortiz, the 3-1 favorite. Judge Artie Aldala scored it 12-1 and referee Jimmy Devolin had it 11-2. The Associated Press score card had it 12-1.

The 135-pound, 30-year-old Ortiz looked like a middleweight in against a bantamweight in the 21-year-old, 134½-pound world junior lightweight champion from Manila.

Ortiz, in his third title defense of the year, softened up his rival with stinging left jabs to the head and smashing lefts and rights to the body, and jarring rights to the head.

"He hit me in the right place at the right time," said Elorde, who added that he would not make any decision about retiring until he returned to Manila in a few days. He is a wealthy businessman.

"I was surprised that he was able to last until the 14th," said Ortiz. "I thought I had him earlier but he is a game fighter and hung in there. I fought just as I had planned, hitting him with short lefts and rights."

Close Matches in Billiard Event

John Beaudette of Poughkeepsie edged Art Barron, Newburgh, 125-117, for his sixth straight victory in the Hudson Valley Invitational Open pocket billiard tournament Monday at Poughkeepsie.

In three other close matches, Dave Holly of Kingston won over Bob Lay, Poughkeepsie, 125-116; Art Lipshin, Newburgh, defeated Barrow, 125-116; and Bob Harbster, Newburgh, nipped Art Weyand.

Holly finished the tournament with a 3-3 record. Beaudette (6-0) and Harbster (5-0) meet next Monday in a match that will decide the championship.

Beaudette led Barron 123-59 when the latter reeled off 59. Beaudette then picked up the two balls he needed to win.

Harbster, the other title contender, ran 59 and out against Weyand, who led him 123-66.

No-Can-Do First With 100 Per Cent

Following a tradition of several years, the eight-team No-Can-Do league is the first to file 100 per cent entry for the Kingston Bowling Association championships.

First individual team entry was filed by Yessie's Pools of the Central Rec, tournament chairman Albert O. Sonnenberg has announced.

Entries have been received from three of the five member establishments of the KBA — Sangi's Bowlero, Ferraro Bowlerama and College Lanes at New Paltz.

Sonnenberg said he was encouraged by the enthusiasm of low average teams in this year's tournament, following the showing made by the Backward Five entry from the Alpine League, a 720-average team that captured the handicap division with a 3180 gross last year. The team rolls out of New Paltz.

Keglers Prove They Have Heart

"Bowlers of this community scored a real 'strike' against heart disease in the special tournament completed Nov. 20 at three local bowling establishments," it was announced today by John Ferraro Sr., chairman. "Indications are" he said "that the Heart Fund will be increased by approximately $200 as a result of the tournament."

Winners were judged on the basis of high single and high triple for men's and women's leagues, and high triple for men and women of the mixed leagues. The entry fees were divided between donation to the Mid-Hudson Heart Association and for cash prizes.

Leagues participating were: Huctrol, Mid-City Major, Frontier Bowling, Bowlerama Quads, International, Ferraro Sunday Mix, Esopus Legion Mix, Women's Invitational, and Mid-City Quads.

Participating bowling houses were: Ferraro's Bowlerama, Ferraro's Mid-City Lanes, and Sangi's Bowlero.

LONDON (AP) — Alf Ramsey, manager of the England soccer team, got a bonus of $16,800 today for leading his squad to victory in the World Cup.

The award was made by the council of the English Football Association—five months after England's triumph at London's Wembley Stadium.

Writers Awards For Curly Smart

T. Wayne (Curley) Smart, hailed for years as one of harness racing's finest drivers, will receive two awards at the 18th annual awards dinner of the U. S. Harness Writers Assn. at the New York Hilton Sunday, Dec. 11.

Smart, of Delaware, O., has been selected by the writers as this year's recipient of the Clem McCarthy Good Guy Award. Named for the famed racing announcer, this tribute is given to an individual in harness racing for outstanding cooperation with the writing press.

The 62-year-old Smart will also be handed the Dougmen Trophy as the top UDRS (percentage) driver of the 1965 season. This is the fourth time Smart has won this honor. He also led the list in 1958, '59 and '62.

Last season in 150 starts (the minimum considered for this award), Smart had fifty-five wins, 35 seconds and 18 thirds for a .536 average. It is the eighth time in recent years that his percentage has topped the .500 mark.

Curly Smart has raced horses for forty-five years, winning over 1,700 races and $24 million in purses. He has set major world records with Gold Worthy, Milestone, Mary M., Senator Abbe, Isola's Ensign and Gallop.

For Fifteen Years

Family That Bowls Together

Kubiceks Hold Unique Niche

As part of its observance of the 50th anniversary of the International Bowling Congress, the Kingston Woman's Bowling Association today turned the spotlight on the Kubicek family.

Mrs. Emma Kubicek and her two daughters—Marie (Mrs. Joseph Senor) and Elsie (Mrs. Andrew Dykes), have been bowling in the KWBA since 1944, carries a 140 average and has career highs of 213 and 535. Elsie has been bowling since 1946. She has a 135 average and rolled highs of 234 and 539. She is also an accomplished bridge player.

Mrs. Nell Glennon, KWBA president, paid tribute to Mrs. Kubicek as "one of the outstanding members of the KWBA." "The KWBA" is grateful to Mrs. Kubicek for her many contributions to the sport," said Mrs. Glennon. "Emma and her two daughters bowling on the same team year after year is one of the inspiring aspects of women's bowling in the city."

Was KWBA Officer

Mrs. Kubicek was elected KWBA sergeant-at-arms in 1942-43 and served for ten years. She was voted honorary membership in 1965, the 25th anniversary.

Name Lady Pitt The No. 1 Filly

NEW YORK (AP) — Lady Pitt, daughter of 1959 American champion Sword Dancer, made her four stakes victories stand up today and was named the No. 1 3-year-old filly of the year by the Thoroughbred Racing Associations Board of Selection.

Lady Pitt, who will be honored along with other divisional champions and American champion Buckpasser at the TRA's annual dinner Dec. 8 in Phoenix, Ariz., won the Mother Goose and Coaching Club American Oaks at Aqueduct, the Delaware Oaks at Delaware Park and the Vineland Handicap at Garden State Park.

Fair Street and Redeemers, Lutherans Win Church Games

Redeemers racked up the biggest score in opening action of the YMCA Senior Church basketball Monday night, routing Church of Comforter, 66-30, on the M/JM boards.

In other games, Trinity Lutheran defeated Trinity Methodist, 40-28, and Fair Street edged Port Ewen, 45-41, despite a 28-point spree by high scoring John Melnick.

Jack Baltz of Redeemers matched Melnick's 28 with 14 shots from the field. Allen Devo added 13 and George Dunham 11. Robert Otto led Comforter with 15 points.

Other double figure scorers were: Gene Ballou 17, Allen Drake and Dave Roberts, 10; John Sentar 10, Walt Parhamus 12 and Steve Allen 10.

Barry Retains Scoring Lead

NEW YORK (AP) — Will Chamberlain and Guy Wilt have moved out of San Francisco, but the Warriors still have the top one-two scoring punch in the National Basketball Association and it has them back atop the Western Division.

The sensational sophomore, Rick Barry, retained his runaway NBA scoring lead in this week's statistics, and now Nate Thurmond has jumped up to help.

Thurmond, who took over as center when Chamberlain was traded to Philadelphia several years ago, vaulted from 13th to sixth in point-making with 429 points for a 19.5 point a game average. With Barry averaging 38.5 on 846 points, the pair provide the Warriors with 58 points a game on 1,275 total points.

Thurmond is also second in rebounding with 469 behind Chamberlain's 480 and third in average with 21.3, behind Chamberlain, 24.0, and Bill Russell of Boston, 21.8.

Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati was a distant second to Barry in scoring with 555 points for a 29.7 average.

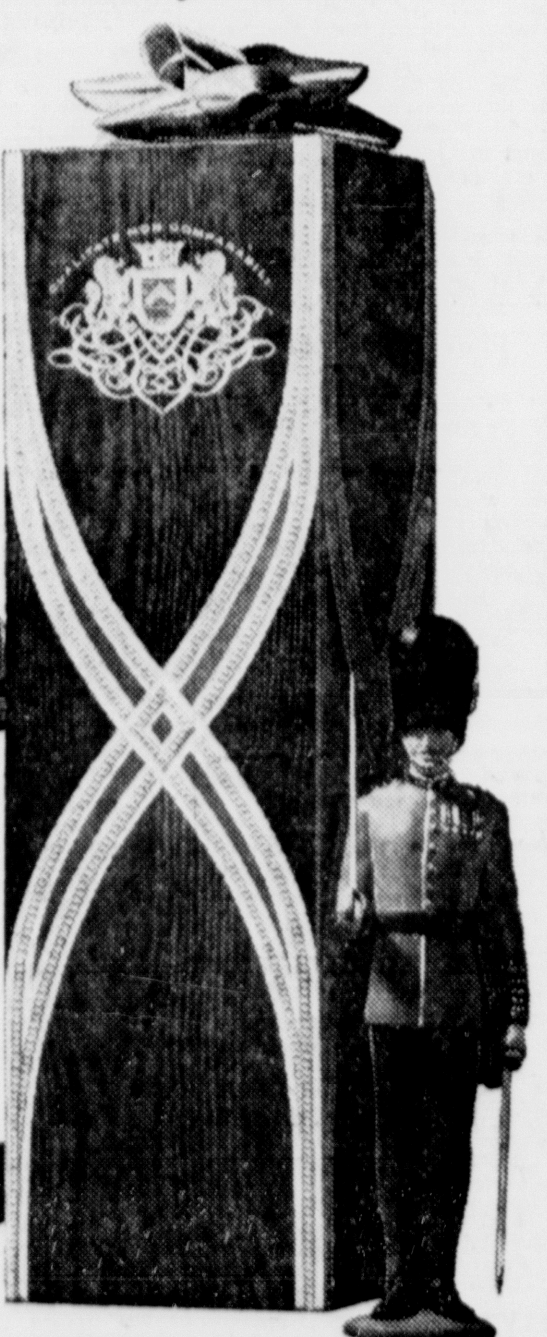

Seven of the world's ten highest mountains lie within Nepal's borders.

Resnick Invites Lefkowitz to Liuni Hearing

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick said today that he has every reason to believe that his request for an inquiry into New York State adoption laws would bear fruit.

Two weeks ago, Resnick wrote top officials in Albany and suggested that a new look should be taken at adoption laws in view of the ramifications of the emotion-charged controversy in Ulster County regarding the Michael Liuni family, of Tillson, and their foster child, 4 1/2-year-old Beth St. John.

Resnick said he received a reply today from Harold L. Fisher, counsel to the Speaker of the New York State Assembly, Joseph Travia. Fisher's letter said in part:

"The speaker feels an inquiry into the adoption laws and procedures should be made with a view to corrective legislation... and that the Joint Legislative Committee on Court Reorganization is the appropriate committee to make such inquiry... The speaker and his staff are prepared to be of such assistance as is deemed necessary."

Fisher also advised Resnick that Judge Henry L. Ughetta, Justice of the Appellate Division, Second Department, has been contacted in regard to the matter in his position as chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Court Reform. Resnick said information received led him to believe that "Albany will get along on this matter by early January."

Resnick also told a reporter for The Freeman today that he has sent a telegram to New York State Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz, urging him to attend the new hearing on the Liuni custody case in Kingston on Wednesday. He asked him to attend as amicus curiae in order to guarantee that the interests of the child involved are represented and protected. He added that Ulster County Welfare Commissioner Joseph Fitzsimmons, who bears responsibility for her interests and protection, would be a prejudiced "friend of the court." Now that Gov. Rockefeller has called for a full scale investigation by the State Social Welfare Department, Resnick suggested that Lefkowitz would show his own expressed interest by coming to the County Courthouse Wednesday as a "friend of the court."

Kiesinger Sees Good U. S., France Ties

BONN, Germany (AP)—Kurt Georg Kiesinger, generally expected to become West Germany's chancellor, today predicted good relations with both the United States and France.

Kiesinger, Christian Democrat minister president (governor) of Baden Wuerttemberg State, is known for his friendliness to President Charles de Gaulle's government just across the Rhine, asked if closer West German ties with France would impair those with the United States, he replied:

"I don't think so. I always refuse to be imprisoned in the cage of a wrong alternative. I am quite convinced we will deepen our relations with France and the United States. I know there are difficulties but these difficulties can be solved if good will is prepared to solve them."

Given Three Months On Narcotic Charge

Nathaniel Harris, 24, of 34 Delano Street, Poughkeepsie, charged last month with a public health law violation involving possession of marijuana, was sentenced today by Judge Hubert A. Richter to three months in jail with credit for time served.

A previous plea of innocent was changed to one of guilty. Harris was represented by Attorney Harry Gold, who had been assigned by the court, and Assistant District Attorney James H. Fisher appeared for the prosecution.

The arrest of Harris Oct. 25 followed an investigation by detectives Floyd Krom and Albert Hutton. It was charged that he had possessed marijuana cigarettes.

MAKE YULE DECORATIONS—Members of the Beavers of Rondout 4-H Clubs make Christmas centerpieces and decorations for patients in nursing homes in the infirmary as one of their service projects. 4-H Clubs Grow In Rondout Area, Varied Program

One of the fastest growing 4-H clubs in the county is the Rondout 4-H Club. Most of the members in this club meet at the Kingston Recreation Center at 97 Broadway. The name Rondout was chosen to honor and preserve the name by which this area has been known since the first settlement here almost 300 hundred years ago. The boys and girls and their leaders are very enthusiastic and have made many achievements since the club was organized in May of this year.

Four - H offers them opportunities to learn practical skills, to develop their talents in areas of their own choice, to perform services for others and help them provide their own recreation and fun.

Already about 50 boys and girls, ages 9 to 14 are members. Groups will be provided for youth, 15-18, as membership justifies it and leadership is obtained. Those wishing to join may attend any of the following groups.

Groups Are Listed
Girls, age 9-11, Raindrops meet at the Recreation Center on Saturday of each week from 12:30-2:30. Mrs. Alberta Parker, leader.

Girls, age 11-12, Daffodils, meet at the home of their leader, Mrs. Dorothy Childs, 16 Hasbrouck Place, Mondays, 3:30-5:30. Girls, 13-14, Honey Bees, Tuesdays 7 to 9 at the Recreation Center, Mrs. Emma Medley and Mrs. Annve Waters, leaders.

Girls, 14-16, Beavers, Mondays at the Recreation Center, 7 to 9. Leaders are Mrs. Ella Lindsay and Mrs. Dorothy Brodhead, and Miss Joanne Brodhead, assistant. Since their organization these groups have participated in the Ulster County Fair, winning a blue ribbon for their booth. They helped in the Ulster County 4-H Candy Sale which helps to finance the 4-H summer camp. Thirty of the girls helped to serve a dinner prepared by the Port Ewen 4-H Chef's Club at the annual dinner for 4-H leaders sponsored by the National Banks of Ulster County. They also attended a 4-H dress review at Hurley. Projects for the coming year are sewing, cooking, gardening and home management. Presently they are making centerpieces for Christmas and favors for patients in nursing homes and the infirmary.

Boys Group Has Crafts
The boys have only one group so far for 9 to 14. They meet on Saturday mornings at the Recreation Center from 11-12:30. Leaders are the Rev. James Childs, Eddie Parker, John Lewis and Donald Rattray. Presently they are working on handyman projects that include carpentry and handyman skills. This year they also plan to study electrical work. Boys from 9-18 are cordially invited to attend at this time. More groups will be formed as membership justifies. Each group chooses whatever project they wish to follow. This will include sports and recreation. Through the courtesy of Andrew J. Murphy III, director of the Kingston Recreation Department and Charles Ryan, supervisor at the center, the 4-H clubs have a special room of their own at the Center which they share with the newly formed Rondout YWCA group. One corner of the room is being made into a kitchen, one a sewing center, and one a workshop.

Equipment Donated
Equipment is gradually being secured through funds raised by rummage sales and by donations of friends. So far, two sewing machines, a small electric stove, an electric plate, a refrigerator, two irons, an ironing board and some kitchen utensils have been munities in the county. The bridge, one of the few remaining covered spans in New York State, has been under discussion locally, in Albany and in the nation's capitol. Cornell Fire Station Reopens

Fire Chief James M. Brett in announcing reopening today of Cornell Fire Station, Abel Street, emphasized the need of additional department personnel and of new downtown fire station.

It is his opinion, he said, that without safe "reserved manned equipment" disaster could result.

On this date, he noted Cornell Station opened at 7:45 a. m., after having been closed since last March 13, and he added:

"The closing of this fire station for approximately nine months each year is due to the accumulated manpower shortage brought about by state laws, dictating shorter hours, increased vacations and increased holiday time off.

"In order to operate Cornell Station on a year 'round basis the appointment of 14 additional firemen is necessary. I cannot too strongly recommend that these additional firemen be appointed to the Cornell Station, or some other fire station in the downtown area be erected for the following reasons:

"The demolition phase of urban renewal in this area has been sharply accelerated during the year 1966 and will continue through 1967. Beginning in the spring of 1967 present plans call for high density multiple occupancy construction to commence under the urban renewal program. "This program also requires the early location of a new fire house in this area to replace the present Cornell Station so that the entire area may be adequately protected.

"During the year 1966 we experienced several potentially disastrous fires in several large buildings, which severely taxed our diminished fire fighting forces. Fortunately these fires were extinguished in their incipient stages.

"It is my considered opinion that the city can no longer indulge in the potentially disastrous risk of facing multiple fires occurring at the same time with no reserve manned equipment available. This situation must ultimately result in a major disaster."

Critical of LBJ

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Arthur A. Calwell, head of the opposition Labor party which was defeated in Australia's general election last week, today criticized President Johnson for sending a congratulatory message to the winner—Prime Minister Harold Holt.

In the message, Johnson pledged continued U.S. support in defense of Australia and praised Holt's "far-sighted leadership."
